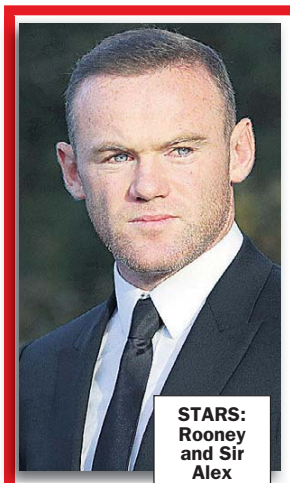
Farewell, Gaffer

EVERTON TRIBUTES FOR EX-BOSS HOWARD



STARS: Rooney and Sir Alex

SOME of football's biggest names bade farewell to one of its legends yesterday at the funeral of former Everton great Howard Kendall.

Born in Co Durham as the son of a miner, Kendall found fame first as a player with the Toffees in the 1960s and then oversaw the greatest period in the club's history as manager from 1981-87.

Thousands of fans and football names gathered at Liverpool's Anglican Cathedral to pay tribute to Kendall, who died 12 days ago at the age of 69.

Everton players from the past 50 years were there, including Wayne Rooney.

The red half of the city was represented by Robbie Fowler and Jamie Carragher, while Sir Alex Ferguson was also in the congregation to listen to Kendall remembered as an inspirational presence.

The service was open to fans but the 1,700 seats quickly filled up and hundreds gathered outside the gates where the service was broadcast via loudspeakers.

More fans gathered at Goodison Park and the funeral cortège did a lap of the ground on its way to the cathedral.

Gazza fined for Twitter abuse of ex

PAUL Gascoigne has pleaded guilty to harassment of his former girlfriend and assaulting a snappa.

A court heard the 48-year-old former England footballer (above) posted a series of abusive Twitter messages about Amanda Thomas.

Bournemouth JPs heard Gascoigne and Miss Thomas had split up at the end of last year and she had begun a new relationship with Andrew Stone, a photographer.

On March 16 Gascoigne phoned Miss Thomas at a Post Office shop where she works in the Dorset town.

She said she did not want to be contacted again but Gascoigne went on to send her text messages on eight occasions in the following days.

He also sent a "series of abusive tweets" including one post saying: "I am going to fk him over".

Gascoigne's defence said was unwell at the time and is regretful of his actions.

He was fined £100 for the harassment and ordered to pay £1,535 in compensation. A restraining order was also made.

Cam slams Iraq War report boss

PRIME Minister David Cameron has told the head of the inquiry into the Iraq war he is "disappointed" that the findings will not be published until next summer.

Sir John Chilcot announced earlier that his team expects to publish his two-million word report by June or July 2016.

But in a letter to him, Mr Cameron wrote: "Whilst it is welcome of course that there is now a clear end in sight for your inquiry, I am disappointed – and I know the families of those who served in Iraq will also be disappointed – that you do not believe it will be possible logistically to publish your report until early summer."

'I HAD TO CLOSE MY EYES TO CHOP UP BECKY'

ACCUSED: Matthews (right) and Hoare

VICTIM: Becky Watts

Court told how he dismembered her

THE stepbrother of Becky Watts closed his eyes when he dismembered her with a circular saw before placing her body parts in a freezer, he told a jury.

Nathan Matthews, 28, is accused of murdering the 16-year-old at her home in Bristol, on February 19 with his girlfriend Shauna Hoare, 21.

He told the city's crown court that after killing Becky, he put her body into a red suitcase, which he dragged down the stairs to his car.

The following day, he dropped Hoare at Becky's family home, then purchased an £80 circular saw, gloves, goggles and masks.

Matthews claimed he moved the body of Becky, who weighed nine stone, to his bath and then dismembered it.

"I closed my eyes, had the saw in one hand," he told the court.

By CLAIRE HAYHURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

He denied that dismembering Becky had made a mess, or that he had taken care in the process.

No marks were found on the bath, which Matthews said was because he was holding the saw in one hand and Becky in the other.

He added: "I wasn't slow, I was just rushing, doing what I had to do."

Matthews said that dismembering Becky and packaging the eight body parts in clingfilm, bags and tape was a lengthy process, telling the court: "I did take a while, yes. Not very lengthy...because that makes it sound like it was five or six hours or something stupid."

The court heard that Matthews used clingfilm to wrap Becky's body parts so they did not smell, then moved the packages from the bathroom.

"I put some of it in the freezer," he said.

Jurors were shown the red suitcase that Matthews claimed he used to put Becky's body into and later store in his front room.

When asked to look at it, he replied: "I don't want to."

Matthews, of Warmley, South Glos, denies murder and conspiracy to kidnap.

He admits killing Becky, perverting the course of justice, preventing the burial of a corpse and possessing a prohibited weapon.

Hoare, of Bristol, denies all charges against her, including murder.

Stabbed lad's family speak of heartbreak

THE family of the 16-year-old who was stabbed at his secondary school have spoken of their heartbreak at losing their "beloved boy".

Bailey Gwynne, who dreamed of joining the Royal Marines, was attacked in a corridor of Cults Academy, Aberdeen, during his lunch break on Wednesday.

His family said there "are no words" to describe the feeling of losing "a special son, brother, grandson and friend".

The touching tribute came as police charged a 16-year-old boy over the death. He will appear at Aberdeen Sheriff Court today.

Bailey is said to have uttered the word "stabbed" as he fell to the ground after what has been described as a "pointless fight".

First Sight marriage annulled

THE marriage of a couple who wed as part of TV series Married At First Sight has been ended after eight months by a judge.

Jason Knowles and Kate Stewart were strangers when they married in February as part of the Channel 4 show.

A judge approved the nullification at a family court hearing in London.

Neither Mr Knowles nor Miss Stewart, who are both in their 30s, were at the hearing – which lasted less than two minutes.

Court paperwork shown to the judge revealed Ms Stewart wanted nullification on the grounds that Mr Knowles had "wilfully" refused to consummate the marriage, which had taken place on February 22. Knowles had not contested her application.

Channel 4 claimed the reality show was a social experiment, with experts matching couples.

The channel's chief creative officer Jay Hunt had described the show as "a celebration of marriage".

You gotta laugh!

THERE'S a new Elbow tribute band around, called 'Arse' – they're so good you can't tell one from the other.

Wedding guest's upskirt photos

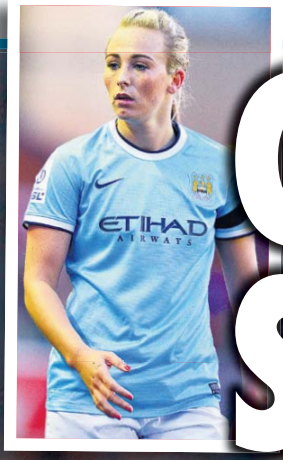
A MAN has been found guilty of using his mobile phone to take lewd snaps up women's skirts at a wedding.

PhD student Collin Lieberg, 34, was spotted by guests and caught on CCTV leaning in towards girls in short summer dresses and angling his phone under the hems.

The Warwick University student from California denied it, claiming he suffered from a nervous tic and had been checking scores on a sports app and browsing social media on his phone.

The Old Bailey jury deliberated for a day before finding him guilty of outraging public decency by committing an "act of lewd, obscene and disgusting nature"at the Oyster Shed pub near London Bridge in July 2014.

Sentence on Lieberg, of Shrewsbury, was adjourned for reports.



CITY STRIKER SERGIO SCORES WITH CITY STRIKER TONI!

PAIR WE GO: Toni and Sergio are an item, TV show claims

He falls for her two up front

By SAM WALKER samwsundaysport.co.uk

MANCHESTER City star Sergio Aguero has hooked up with fellow Manchester City footballer Toni Duggan, according to reports.

The blonde babe plays for City's Ladies and, just like Sergio, is her team's top goalscorer.

The 24-year-old, who was also one of England's best players at the Women's World Cup this summer, has so far refused to comment on claims made on a South American chat show.

Training

Former Atletico Madrid striker Sergio was married to Argentina legend Diego Maradona's daughter Giannina, with whom he had a son called Benjamin, but the pair split in 2013.

He had been seeing South American singer Karina Tejeda but the relationship ended earlier this year.

Argie TV viewers were shown a series of pictures of Scouse babe Toni before a snap of the pair together at the club's training ground appeared on screen.

The show's two presenters seemed very keen to link the pair with one another – and appeared to give Toni a big thumbs up as her image was shown.

Sergio is currently out of action but remains on course for a top flight return in November, after picking up a nasty hamstring injury while on international duty.

A City insider said: "They're playing their cards close to their chest at the moment but if it is true they're one hell of a couple.

"If they have kids, let's hope they end up playing for us because they'll be amazing."

Champions League big boost for BT

BT said it signed up a record 106,000 TV customers in its second quarter of the year, boosted by the start of the telecoms operator's Champions League football coverage.

It said the extra viewers helped lift its pre-tax profits in the six months to the end of September by five per cent to £1.4bn compared to a year ago.

BT added that its mobile base now stands at 200,000 customers since it re-entered the market earlier in the year.

On Wednesday, the competition watchdog, the Competition and Markets Authority provisionally approved BT's £12.5bn merger with mobile phone firm EE.

In the summer it launched its coverage of all Champions League and Europa League matches having paid £897m to show them for three years.

BERRY ZOMBIE MASK

ASDA 'fall guy' was a compo liar

A FRAUDSTER staged a fall in a supermarket in an attempt to claim £11,000 in compo.

Cops say jobless Louis Dempsey (above), 35, attempted to claim the cash from the ASDA store in Brighton in November 2012 but CCTV cameras caught the incident and showed he was lying.

He said that he experienced back and neck pain, headaches and emotional suffering following a fall on a wet surface, caused by what he said was their ASDA's negligence.

But a police spokesman said: "Dempsey claimed he sustained the injuries when he slipped on a puddle of water which had been dripping from the store ceiling.

"But the whole CCTV episode shows him previously walking across that area and looking around, and others walking past with no problem at all."

Dempsey, of Brighton, East Sussex, was jailed for nine months at Lewes Crown Court after he was convicted of fraud by making a false representation.

BG: Gas leak not from us

BRITISH Gas has said it is "confident" a data leak affecting its customers had not come from within the company.

The email address and passwords of 2,200 people appeared online on Wednesday evening.

The firm insisted its systems are secure, after sending out an email reassuring those affected saying the leak was caused by "someone external", adding that no payment data had been compromised.

The email said: "I can assure you there has been no breach of our secure data storage systems, so none of your payment data, such as bank account or credit card details, have been at risk."

The data was uploaded to Pastebin, a temporary text uploading website, and discovered by British Gas during routine online checks.

INSIDE

IT is the world's most brutal prison system – a hell on earth where murders and decapitations are common and extreme violence is a daily way of life.

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

It's a place where the prison authorities have given up on keeping order with the thousands of prisoners – living in filthy, cramped conditions.

Jails in Brazil's Pernambuco state are run by 'mafia' style inmates who sell crack cocaine to prisoners and murder anyone who owes them money, an investigation showed.

Bosses in the state's overcrowded prisons are frightened of inmates and give the most dangerous ones – called 'chaveiros' or 'keyholders' – control over their cell block for them to 'maintain order'.

The authorities give the job to convicted murderers, rapists and drug dealers because they 'command respect from fellow inmates', a jailbird told charity Human Rights Watch (HRW), who reported on the four Pernambuco prisons where there is one guard for just 31 lags.

It found chaveiros-run jails are hell holes where disease is rife, vulnerable ones are gang raped and relatives outside are blackmailed into paying off inmates' drug debts.

While jailbirds rot in the cramped cells they share with dozens of other men, chaveiros live in spacious private rooms with their own TVs, fridges, fans and bathrooms, and employ prisoners as personal servants, known as 'chegados'.

Prisoners are made to pay a weekly tax of between five to 15 reais – around 80p to £8 – and anyone who cannot keep up with payments is assaulted or even killed by the chaveiros' prison gang.

These drug lords also make money by selling the prisoners crack cocaine – smuggled in for them by guards and police officers – and forcing their families on the outside to pay their debt.

Coffin

A street-merchant called Sandra said a keyholder rang her from a smuggled mobile phone and ordered her to pay off her son's drug debt, saying, "Either you pay or you buy a coffin for your son".

Sandra gave him her TV, which she was paying off in instalments.

She said: "I sold everything I had."

Keyholders also abuse their power by selling and renting bunks – known as 'barracos' – to prisoners for between £100 and £330.

Regina, whose name was changed for security reasons, said she paid £330 for her 20-year-old son, who was sentenced to four years for possessing cannabis worth just £9.

She said: "I gave the money to the keyholder myself," and added that her son lost the cubicle when the keyholder later 'renovated' the area.

HELL!

Gang rape, decapitation and extortion... The brutal daily life in the world's toughest jail

HELLHOLE: The shocking conditions inside Brazil's notorious jails

Keyholders are known to accuse inmates of offences and report them to prison officials when they want to take back a cell or when they fear a power struggle.

A prison director said: "If a keyholder goes to the administration and says that a person attacked someone, and brings witnesses, we believe him and punish the violator."

The keyholders' rule within the prison wings is enforced by 'militias' they recruit.

These gang members beat up anyone who breaks the chaveiros' rules, or owes them money.

A woman called Maria said they beat her nephew up with clubs but she refused to report it for fear of reprisals.

She said: "It's the law of the jungle in there."

Not only do the chaveiros wreak havoc, they also fail to protect the inmates from one another.

Newcomers and other vulnerable prisoners – some of them disabled – are normally housed in 'disciplinary wings' but two prisoners revealed they were gang raped while staying in the 'protected area' which was governed by a keyholder.

Jorge, 28, whose name has also been changed, was ambushed by up to 10 men he shared a room with in the COTEL prison in Recife, Pernambuco.

Father-of-two Jorge said they put a plastic bag over his head, tied his hands behind his back and then raped him.

His attackers threatened him with a knife and promised to kill him if he told anyone.

But he later confessed to a guard who told him, 'Prisoners have to suffer'.

A gay prisoner called Paulo, 34, said he was gang raped in a cell he shared with 67 other men at the PAMFA prison in November last year.

He said: "The prisoner who was in charge of the cell forced me to have sex with three men.

"I told the chief of security but he said it was a lie."

And the attackers did not use condoms, both victims claimed.

Evil

These sexual attacks are partly why the HIV rate in Pernambuco's prisons is 42 times higher (870 per 100,000) than Brazil's, according to the National Prison Department.

Brazilian prosecutor Marcellus Ugiette said: "Everything that is happening is because the state let evil take over the prisons."

Brazil's prisons hold more than 607,000 people in jails designed for about 377,000.

In Pernambuco, almost 32,000 inmates are housed in prisons with a capacity for just 10,500.

Danny: I was in Dyer straits before 'Enders

SOAP star Danny Dyer has revealed he was "absolutely skint" and in a "desperate" situation when he was offered his role in EastEnders.

The actor, who plays pub landlord Mick Carter on the BBC1 show, said he barely had enough dosh to travel and meet the producers and feared the team asking him to buy a round of drinks.

Speaking on The Jonathan Ross Show, he said: "I didn't have an audition, they rung me up. At the time I was skint and I just had about enough petrol money to get there, that's the truth.

"They thought I was a multimillionaire and I met them in the hotel and I walked in skint – not a bean about me. I thought, 'I hope they don't ask me to get them a lager because I've got no dough'.

"They sat me on a throne and said how great I was and how they wanted me to come in and take over the Vic and I was going to have a big storyline.

"I was like, 'Wow, I want to do a cartwheel in front of them' but I thought, 'Play it down'.

"I went, 'I'll think about it' – and then I walked out and I did a couple of backflips on the way out!"

Bullied 10st girl fury at 'fatty' role!

A SCHOOLGIRL who suffered years of bullying over her size was left in floods of tears after she was given the part of an obese chocoholic in the Christmas play.

Lexi Shaw, 12, was shocked when she received the script in the post with her initials next to the role of Augustus Gloop in the Year 8 production of Charlie and the Chocolate Factory.

She was asked to learn some of Gloop's lines, which include: "I love the chocolate, I must eat all the time!"

Lexi was off sick with tonsillitis last week when she received the script from Lees Brook Community School in Chaddesden, Derbys.

In the children's classic, written by Roald Dahl, Augustus Gloop is an overweight boy hooked on choc who wins the chance to visit Willy Wonka's factory.

Lexi, who has learning difficulties, was bullied after health issues meant she piled on the pounds and now weighs 10st.

Mum Becky Shaw, 30, said: "The teachers have typecast her because of her size.

"It's appalling!"

Student sets fire to 'bad sex' massage joint

AN Arabic student set fire to a massage parlour because he was "dissatisfied" with the service from the sex workers there.

Salah Al-Sabah, 33 (above), was jailed for setting a mattress alight in the arson attack at 1st Choice Massage.

The parlour in Cardiff offers sessions such as a one-hour VIP Room with hot tub for £120, with a choice of five different girls.

But a court heard staff members walked into on a room which Qatari-born Al-Sabah had just left – to find a small fire had been lit.

He told the court he "found it difficult to accept" he was responsible for the fire as he had no memory of the incident.

Al-Sabah, a student at the University of South Wales in Cardiff, admitted reckless arson and was jailed for three years and three months and ordered to pay £336 in compensation to the parlour.

He must serve half of his sentence in Cardiff before being deported back to Qatar.

Rangers' Whyte made bankrupt

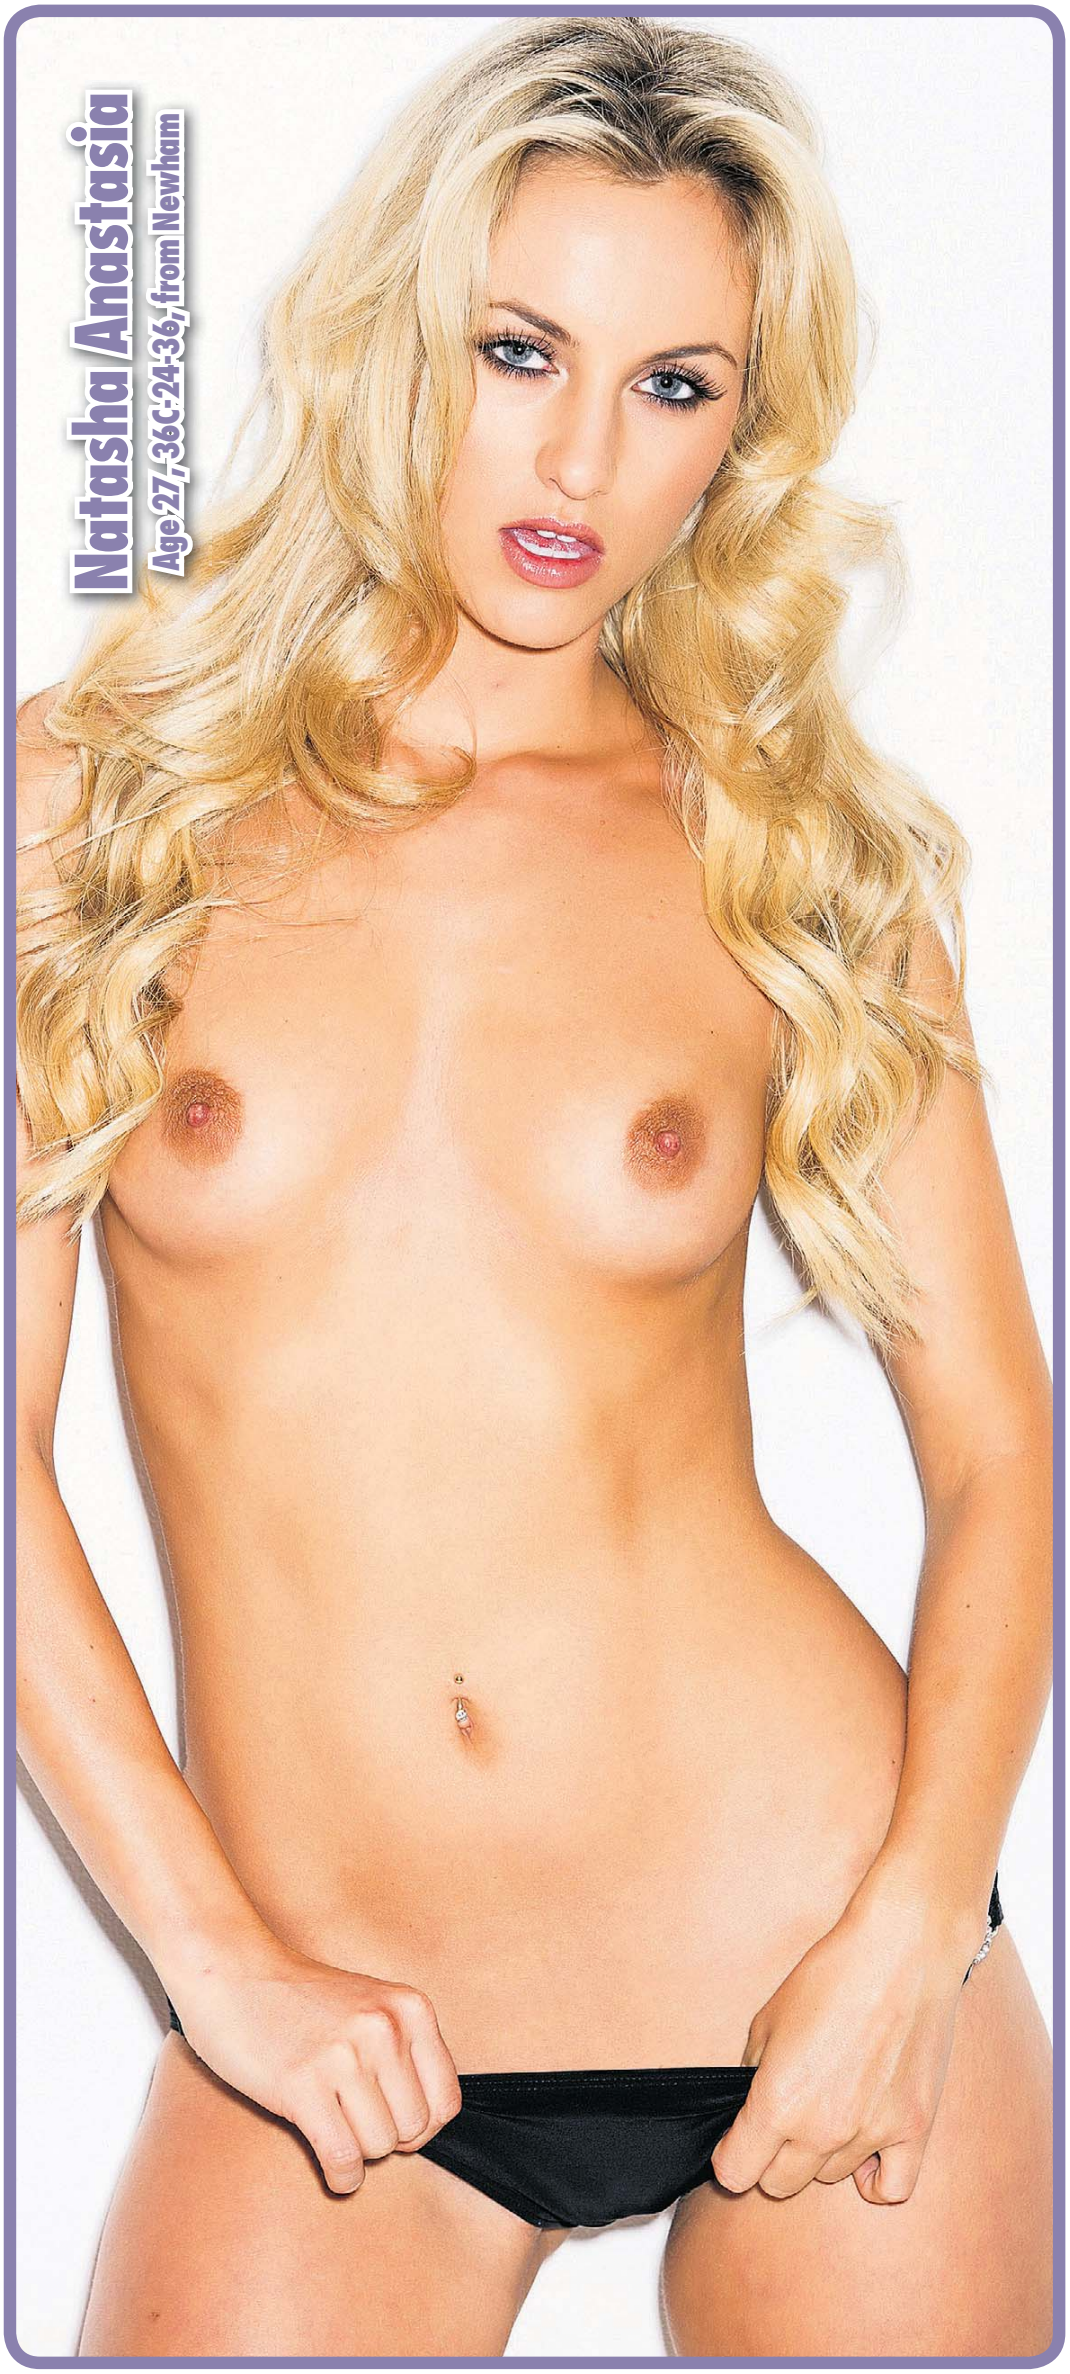
FORMER Rangers owner Craig Whyte has been declared bankrupt.

The 44-year-old was confirmed as insolvent in the wake of a High Court battle with Ticketus, which accused him of luring it into a deal on false pretences.

The ticketing firm obtained a judgment in its favour relating to allegations of a misrepresentation by Whyte during a ticket purchase agreement the Glasgow club.

The bankruptcy petition was filed after Whyte failed to pay a judgment debt currently worth some £20.8m.

It was alleged that Whyte had agreed to sell three years' worth of season ticket sales to the company for £25m, some of which, it's also alleged, he used to fund his takeover of the Ibrox club in May 2011.



HUMAN DNA FOUND IN HOT DOGS!

NOT only is processed meat really bad for your health, new research has now revealed that it could also be turning us into CANNIBALS.

A study of both meat and vegetarian hot dogs has revealed they contain a few unadvertised ingredients.

Clear Food, an independent food analysis firm, tested 345 hotdogs and found almost 15 per cent had 'problematic issues.'

By JACK MOTTERSHEAD
news@sundaysport.co.uk

And in 75 of the most popular brands, the study found 10% of the vegetarian hot dogs contained MEAT.

But more worryingly was the discovery of human DNA in 2% of the tested hot dogs and in two-thirds of the vegetarian samples.

Anxiety

The Kickstart campaign said: "Sausages are the world's original 'mystery meat' and hot dogs have always provoked ingredient anxiety.

"In mid 19th century America, rumours circulated that some butchers made inexpensive frankfurter-style sausages with ground dog meat

"This might explain how the hot dog got its name."

The news comes as a blow for many meat fans who haven't had the best of weeks in terms of publicity.

The report comes alongside unrelated research by the World Health Organisation that found eating processed meat can cause some forms of cancer.

However the National Hot Dog and Sausage Council has called the report a 'publicity stunt'.

A spokesman said: "Human DNA in samples is a sign of lots of touching with human hands."

Taylor hits back at 'arse grope' DJ

POP diva Taylor Swift is countersuing a radio presenter who is said to have groped her bum.

Last month, the Bad Blood singer was hit with a lawsuit after an incident that happened at a gig back in 2013.

DJ David Mueller initially sued Swift after he claimed he was fired from his radio station after claims from the singer that he had groped her.

Mueller argued that the assault was carried out by his boss Eddie Haskell, but the 25-year-old star insists she's 100 per cent sure that he was the one who got handsy.

In the original lawsuit the DJ recounted that after a meet and greet with the 1989 star, he was kicked out of the gig over the allegations, which caused him to lose his job.

The counter suit states: "Ms. Swift knows exactly who committed the assault – it was Mueller.

"He did not merely brush his hand against Ms. Swift while posing for photographs as he claims.

"He lifted her skirt and groped her."

You gotta laugh!

A WOMAN'S shoes say a lot about how she feels – if they're behind her ears, she likes you.

New Robbie home has 22 thrones!

POP star Robbie Williams' career is literally going down the toilet – after buying a house with 22 crappers!

The former Take That man's new mansion is a massive 24,000 square feet with 10 bedrooms.

His new house also includes a personal gym, tennis court and pool with a huge outhouse that's big enough to be mistaken for the Rock DJ's main residence.

Robbie, 41, bought the property in Beverly Hills for a cool £21 million – knocking the seller down by £4million.

The purchase comes shortly after the boy bander's recent bitter planning dispute with Led Zeppelin's Jimmy Page.

Robbie obtained permission to revamp his other 46-room home in west London – after months of applications and objections.

HALLOWE'EN is here and what better way to get your pulse up than by watching these horror hotties.

Whether you head out for a spot of trick or treating or stay in for a night in front of the box these three babes will put you in the mood for a spot of heavy breathing.

Stunning Carmen Electra, 43, and saucy Kendra Wilkinson, 30, star in creepy comedy Scary Movie 4, which is on telly tonight.

Knockers

So to celebrate their small-screen appearance here they are with their knockers out.

But if those gorgeous girls aren't enough scary stimulation, A-lister Jamie Lee Curtis also exercises her vocal chords in Halloween 2.

And as the famous horror movies show, the 58-year-old is no stranger to have her back door smashed in.

A keen viewer said: "Halloween is one of the best times of year, especially when you've got such a bunch of talented actresses on the TV.

"There will be plenty of male viewers scared their missus will catch them with their hands on their remote controls tonight."

Dopey Ed in love with a beanbag!

A DRUGGED-up Ed Sheeran got lusty with a BEANBAG when he was wired on ecstasy, the singer revealed.

Ed's songs are full of references to drinking and drugs and now the ginger artist has opened up on the time he "fell in love with a beanbag" when he tried the class-A substance.

The 24-year-old (above) insisted that he had only done the drug at a wedding in Ibiza, and had no intention of doing it again.

He said the biggest impact it had was him developing an obsession with the comfy cushion, so much so that it saw him order six of them online.

Talking about drugs, he explained: "It's not a regular thing. It happens when I'm under an immense amount of stress and things just build up. But it's not as dark as people make out. It's educational."

The Lego House singer also announced that in addition to hard drugs, he'd also given up smoking marijuana having last used the substance when he was with rapper The Game.

Katy Perry's spanking shocker!

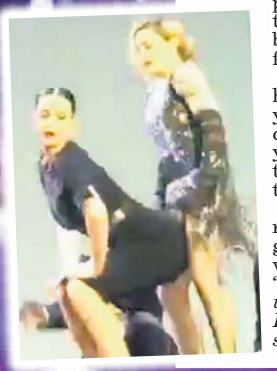
SAUCY Madonna appears to have hit a bum note in front of thousands of fans – after "shagging" pop star Katy Perry.

The 57-year-old invited the I Kissed a Girl singer on stage during the U.S. leg of her Rebel Heart tour.

And the pair literally became bosom buddies after the blonde mimed the doggy-style sex act on stage.

Madonna was also snapped spanking the 31-year-old during the performance at The Forum in Los Angeles.

She even offered Katy a post gig "dildo" in the form of a banana-shaped flask.



Madge was then heard joking: "Do you wanna take a drink? I'm sure you can find other things to do with this banana."

She posted a record of the rude gift on Instagram with the caption, "Sharing banana with Katy Perry. Highlight of my show at the Forum!"

You gotta laugh!

I've been dating this girl and she said she doesn't give blow jobs in the first six months – so I told her to ring me nearer the time.

Handy Brit fights off 8 foot 'gator!

A BRITISH man has survived a terrifying battle with an 8ft alligator in Florida.

Doug Brown, from Arbroath, is recovering after a life-or-death struggle with the giant reptile, which left him with a mangled hand.

Mr Brown, 45, who now lives in Florida, encountered the beast when his mum Doreen asked him to repair a water pump behind her canal-side home in Tavares.

Mrs Brown told her son that alligators had been seen in the canal but he ignored her warnings and went in – hand-first.

Almost immediately, a gator sprang from the water and grabbed hold of Mr Brown's hand, leaving him with a four-inch gash and severed tendons.

The shaken victim, who was treated in hospital, said: "He was on a mission. He had one thing on the menu and that was me."

X FACTOR CHERYL IN KINKY PHONE PIC RIDDLE

She worries it'll be nicked

INTIMATE: Cheryl has special code on her phone

POP star Cheryl Fernandez-Versini has sparked a saucy SEX PHOTO riddle after hinting she has saucy pictures on her phone.

The singer is currently judging on ITV talent show The X Factor admitted her mobile contains things that "shouldn't be there".

Nicked

Brave Cheryl, 32, revealed: "Yes, there are things on my mobile phone that make me worry about having it nicked. Things that shouldn't be on there!"

The shy brunette also makes sure her device has a special LOCK to stop her intimate secrets being leaked to the public. She added: "But I have a special code on there – you'd be very lucky to get in!"

By SAM WALKER
samw@sundaysport.co.uk

One showbiz expert said Cheryl's confession could lead to a "Holy Grail" type search. Our industry source said: "The existence of something rather fruity on Cheryl's phone is enough to get grown men salivating all over the world.

"If there were any X-rated photos, they'd spread like wildfire on the internet in seconds. They'd be the Holy Grail of leaked photos.

"Here's hoping Cheryl suddenly gets fat fingers and accidentally uploads the lot!"

It's not the first time Cheryl has hinted at an exhibitionist streak.

She once said: "I like nothing more than to walk by the window in my underwear – it keeps the cutains twitching."

Possessed by demons ...we all have a fear of that happening to us

HORROR FAN: Minister Peter Laws

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW WITH THE CHURCH MINISTER AND HORROR FAN AHEAD OF NEW HORROR 'THE VATICAN TAPES'

PETER Laws is an ordained clergyman with a passion for horror movies. To mark the release of The Vatican Tapes, a chilling tale of demonic possession, Weekend Sport spoke to Peter about his experiences – both real and on the big screen...

Where did your keen interest in horror films come from?
I've been a horror fan way longer than I've been a Christian.

I write a column in Fortean Times magazine and run my own site called The Flicks The Church Forgot.

I remember my teacher in junior school getting concerned because at seven-years-old I went to Glockenspiel class and I taught myself how to play the themes from Hallowe'en and The Exorcist.

The echoes of that last tune, Tubular Bells, may be ringing in your ears whenever you prepare to watch a new exorcism film like The Vatican Tapes.

Is this type of horror all about The Exorcist, then?
The Exorcist wasn't the first film to explore possession. Though most movies before it were about being possessed by spirits or ghosts.

The Exorcist was the film that exploded interest into a particular flavour of it, that being religiously-defined demonic possession.

It wasn't the first film to do that, but it was the most popular.

So regarding The Vatican Tapes, we could easily say it's another film influenced by The Exorcist but that The Exorcist was influenced by the exorcism ritual.

Exorcism films can have a similar vibe, and we can think they're all ripping off one movie, but they're presenting a particular religious phenomenon so there will be similarities.

The Vatican Tapes has some interesting ideas in it including a moment which looks like a horror movie version of the egg 'magic trick' scene from Airplane!

Which are your favourites of this type of horror?
I have a soft spot for Amityville II: The Possession (but mainly the bit before the actual exorcism). And I really liked the creepily ambiguous Lovely Molly from 2011.

What's interesting is that the church-versus-demon movie has made something of a resurgence in recent years.

Maybe you could blame the economic crisis. Making a demon possession movie is a great credit crunch choice – you don't need that many characters, or big named stars.

You don't need a full werewolf suit or giant CGI creature. You just need someone with a bit of heavy eye liner who's willing to writhe, puke and swear a bit.

And you don't need some giant Gothic castle or extravagant set. They can be shot in mostly one location – like a bedroom.

The Vatican Tapes does mix up its locations, which is great.

These films also seem to press an interesting fear button in society. We live in a world where many are turning away from the church and organised religion.

I can understand why people would want to do that. But horror movies have a habit of playing on the fears of what we've embraced.

In the 1970s and 80s we celebrated materialism and directors like Bryan Yuzna and George Romero made films which said, "What if that's dangerous?"

Now, in a world where we're drawn to pure rationalism, Demonic or supernatural movies say, "What if we're missing something?"

What if ghosts, spirits or demons have been real all along?
We may or may not actually believe that. But most horror audiences say 'let's at least pretend it's real for two hours'.

Because the idea of it seems to thrill us in some way.

Is demonic possession real?
Exorcisms are happening more and more. And sometimes they lead to tragic outcomes.

From the German student Anneliese Michel, who died from exorcism injuries, to the horrifying murder of eight-year-old Victoria Climbié, whose parents hit her with hammers, bike chains and wires in a supposed exorcism that eventually killed her.

It's cases like these that explain why the church can be reluctant to grant exorcisms when asked.

You see this scene in horror movies all the time where the family pleads with the church for help and the clergy are like, "Nah. Not for us!"

But this reticence reflects a very real worry of mis-diagnosis. Because it is incredibly easy for some to mis-diagonse someone as 'possessed'.

Epilepsy and Tourettes were seen as demonic behaviour. And there's a neurological condition called Alien Hand Syndrome where your hand takes on a life of its own. Think Evil Dead 2.

There's also an acute form of encephalitis where the human brain swells and causes behaviour that looks demonic.

Can we ever know if something is a real possession?
We should always be aware of the socio-cognitive element of possession. The theory says that we learn how to think and behave by observing the actions and patterns of others. We learn through society and the media.

So for example, films like The Exorcist, The Devil Inside, The Vatican Tapes and others have taught us as a culture what it 'looks like' to be possessed.

So even if the supernatural isn't involved, an exorcism ritual can be like a subconscious bit of theatre for both parties.

Does this happen a lot?
I've heard of cases where people wanted to be possessed – like a some Malaysian factory workers, who got 'possessed' just to act wilder than normal.

The great thing about possession is that you can be exorcised and at the end, you are cleansed and back to 'normal'.

You can say, "Well, that wasn't me... that was Pazuzu. That was his bad, not mine!"

So there's an attraction in being a demon for a bit.

As a minister do you believe in demonic possession?
I am extremely cautious about labelling someone possessed. I know people who think I'm possessed because I'm a Christian who loves Hallowe'en and horror!

So I'm very cautious about pointing the demonic finger. And examples of some communities calling family members witches or demons are scary and have to be avoided.

And so much demonic possession can be faked. Swearing, screaming and having an aversion to religious symbols can just be an average Friday night for some people!

The more dramatic manifestations – eyes whiting over, levitation, heads spinning – maybe there's evidence out there of that in some real Vatican vault.

But I haven't seen convincing examples of that yet. However, I'm sceptically cautious. I'm not willing to say that demonic possession doesn't exist – largely because I believe in God, a belief that opens the door to peace but also a wild world of potential real horror.

Once or twice I've been to houses where strange things are happening. And I've been called to a house where a woman showed signs of demonic possession.

I got her GP involved straight away. But I prayed for her, too.

Whether or not there's any supernatural power at work is up to you to decide.

I like to keep an open mind... which I find makes life quite interesting – and horror movies a little more thrilling.

Eva's Royal flush over invite gaffe

WONDERBRA model Eva Herzigova is facing a Royal ban – after posting a picture of her invite to Buckingham Palace online.

The 41-year-old stunna, who shot to fame in the 1990s as the face – and cleavage – of the lingerie company's hugely successful 'Hello Boys' advertising campaign, put the snap of the personal invite from Prince Charles up on her Instagram page.

Eva captioned the picture: "Going over to our neighbours" after attending the charity event on Tuesday."

But her social media boob is a slap in the face to the Monarchy, who demand guests keep schtum about private events.

A source said: "Discretion is the key when it comes to the Royals.

"Publicising your invite is anything but.

"And it's easy to see why the busty blonde had tongues wagging."

You gotta laugh!

Real-life Sex Lives

THIS WEEK: BABE WHO BREAKS STEREOTYPE OF SEX WORKERS

By CLAUDIA TANNER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

I sold sex so I could be a property developer

BELLA Green doesn't fit a stereotypical image of sex worker.

The 24-year-old from east London isn't a drug addict and certainly didn't have a traumatic childhood.

Bella hasn't suffered severe money troubles either, but she had become frustrated at not being able to get on to the property ladder despite running her own businesses.

And so the pretty entrepreneur took matters into her own hands and became an escort to buy her first home. Now she owns a portfolio of properties – all funded by her sex work.

She tells the Weekend Sport how she's not ashamed to sell her services and feels it's been the right decision for her...

"PEOPLE have preconceived ideas of how an escort gets into sex work.

But when I decided to start doing it, I was actually a young professional with my own companies.

I have always been ambitious and wanted to own my own home as soon as possible.

But even with my own businesses in marketing and design I couldn't afford it – house prices in London are ridiculous.

Then I had a brainwave. I had a few friends who had tried escorting and it seemed like easy money.

I have always been very liberal in sexual matters and enjoyed sleeping with different men so I thought, "Why not get paid for it?"

I was good friends with a lapdancer called Sara who told me she'd met two rich men who wanted to pay for a "lesbian show".

She asked me if I was interested in joining her. They would pay us £1,000 each for a night's work.

So I agreed.

Horny

The men seemed nice and we went back to their hotel and drank champagne. Then Sara and I put on a horny performance for the guys then had sex with each of them.

My friend is attractive and I'd been with girls before and the men were good looking so to be honest it hardly seemed like work at all!

It opened my eyes to what I could earn, so I joined some online escort agencies.

The amount of money I earned at the beginning was crazy – I could easily make £5,000 a week.

Before I knew it, I had enough money for a chunky deposit on a house. Actually, it was no more than six months.

Like most people, I often tire of working in an office but escorting is never dull.

Some clients ask me to do roleplay. I've dressed up as a naughty secretary, nurse, cheerleader, policewoman... even a superhero!

In fact, it became quite addictive, especially given I was so driven before I started doing it. If I took a day off I couldn't bear the idea of losing hundreds of pounds.

But eventually I began to feel exhausted so now I see just one or two clients a day.

The men I see are typically married, middle-aged well-off professionals who use escorts because they don't want the emotional complications of an affair. Escorting isn't just about sex. I have to entertain the client and pay them the attention they crave and I enjoy that.

I don't feel dirty or ashamed about what I do.

Occasionally I get a client who's not very good looking or has bad breath, but I just try to disconnect and think of the money.

I love meeting new people so, in all honesty, I often enjoy having sex with the men I meet. The only real downside is that it's difficult for men I have relationships with to get their heads around my job, so I am currently single.

Now I own seven properties which I rent out and have plans to buy two more. All because I'm great in bed!"

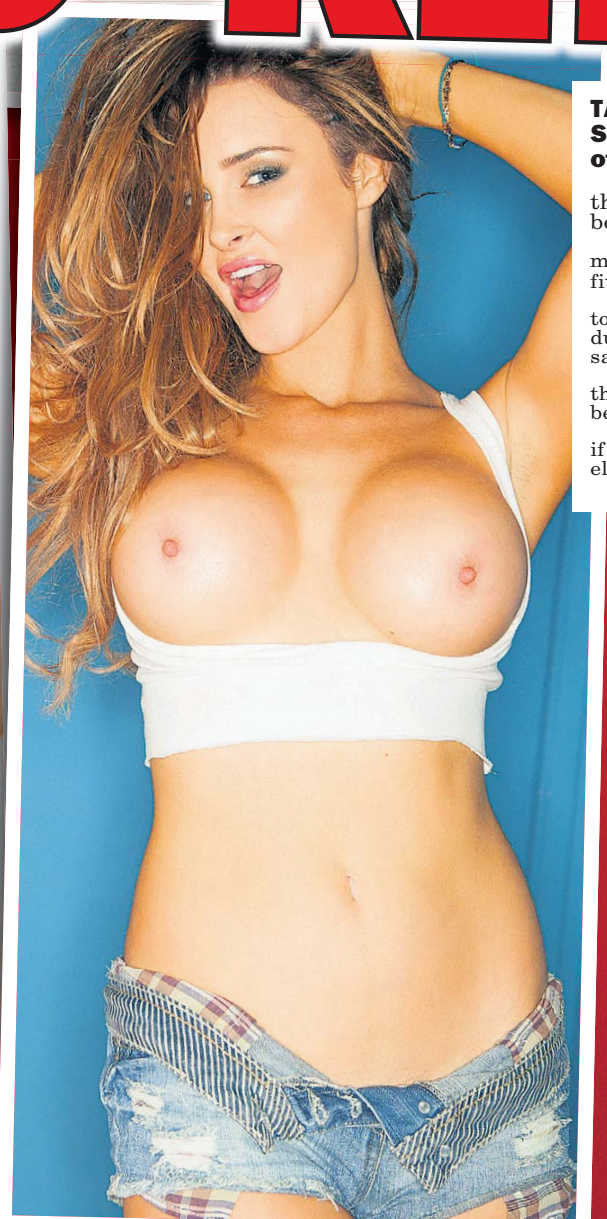
Tess O'REILLY



TASTY Tess O'Reilly says her minge is in SUPER shape – by showing it off in a pair of Catwoman panties!

The 27-year-old glamour girl said she hits the gym three times a week to keep her stunning body trim.

But the Tipperary-born brunette revealed her main priority is keeping her cock hungry fanny fit, too.

Tess stripped down to show off her 32E dumbbells in these saucy topless snaps.

She said: "I get told that it's very tight down below.

"I would be mortified if anyone said anything else, to be honest!

"It's all about tensing your pelvic floor to keep your downstairs in top shape.

"It's important to look after yourself – and I'd never let my ladygarden get untidy either."

Nadine: 'I was weeks from death'

GIRLS Aloud star Nadine Coyle said she was "one of the lucky ones" as she revealed that severe carbon monoxide poisoning left her "weeks from death".

The 30-year-old (above) thought she'd been struck down with a mystery illness when she began to forget simple words such as "table" and suffered fatigue and chest pains while recording her album in LA in 2010.

The diagnosis of carbon monoxide poisoning came entirely by chance when a contractor discovered that a boiler in her rented home had been leaking the odourless gas for four months.

She said: "I got very, very lucky that we found out what it was before it got any worse. There are people whose machines are giving off really high levels of carbon monoxide and they don't make it through the night. A few weeks longer and we could all have been dead I was one of the lucky ones."

Nadine says she now carries a portable carbon monoxide tester everywhere she travels.

You gotta laugh!

THIS man was about to throw dough, cheese and tomatoes at me – I shouted: "You wanna pizza me?"

Playboy's sued over hurt wrist

PLAYBOY is being sued by an eager partygoer who claims he hurt his WRIST during a Halloween bash at the famous mansion.

Michael Jed attended the boob-filled party in 2013 but was asked to leave shortly afterwards by bouncers who later placed him under citizen's arrest and called police.

He was arrested but later released without charge.

But he told lawyers he had to make a run for it, claiming he was beaten and suffered injuries to his neck, back, shoulders, arms, legs and wrist.

Jed is now taking legal action demanding damages including loss of earnings

One onlooker said: "I'm sure Jed's wrist has seen plenty of Playboy related injuries.

"But I bet this is the first time the damage has been caused by someone else – allegedly."

Oh my! Amy's chest great!

SEXY Amy Childs shows off some serious cleavage as she barely manages to contain her gigantic palm-stretchers.

All eyes were on the reality babe when the bright lights showed off her ample assets as she arrived at the London Lifestyle Awards.

The ex-TOWIE star, 25, showed off her eye-popping curves in the lacy number which she donned without a bra.

She was joined at the bash by a host of other busty stars including Michelle Heaton and Casey Batchelor as they celebrated what the capital has to offer.

MICHELLE: DAY I FELL INTO THE TOILET!

...and Mark took pictures!

COUPLE: Michelle and Mark

CLUMSY Michelle Keegan went potty at her hubby – after he took snaps of her in the LOO.

By SAM WALKER
samw@sundaysport.co.uk

Most couples argue about leaving the toilet seat up.

But Michelle said her marriage was almost flushed away when she got her pert cheeks trapped down the bog.

And instead of pulling the former soap actress out of the lavvy, ex-TOWIE star Mark Wright took PHOTOGRAPHS.

The terrifying incident happened on the couple's ensuite loo at their luxury pad in Essex.

Michelle, 29, said: "He left the toilet seat up in the middle of the night – and I fell down the toilet.

"The lights were off and I was sandwiched right in. My legs were dangling out, my head was out, but my body was stuck in the bowl!"

Ex-Coronation Street hottie Michelle tied the knot with the 28-year-old reality star at an exclusive bash in July.

Manchester-born Michelle added: "I went absolutely mad and screamed at him. He laughed his head off and took pictures!"

Weekend Sport POSTER BABE

NICKIE ANN

By WENDY THOMAS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

NAUGHTY Nickie Ann says she gets all revved up by the thought of bonking in a CAR.

The 25-year-old model said there's nothing she loves more than pulling over at the side of the road for a fiddle with her fella's gear stick.

And the brunette admitted she loves to be taken into the back seat for a spot of doggy style action.

So here she is showing off her 32C headlights in a pair of tiny black knickers.

Blackpool-born Nickie said: "One time I was in a car with an ex, driving a busy road.

"I have no idea why but I started playing with him while he was driving – which he absolutely loved.

"After a few minutes of that I just had to jump on top of him.

"He pulled over at the side of the road and we went at it. It was amazing.

"But my favourite position is doggy style. It's definitely the best and it really hits the spot."

MOTORS WITH THE PURPLE HELMET

LIKE a drug dealer's gold gnashers, this M series is all about the GRILLE.

It's got a big, imposing front end – more than enough to clobber any errant cyclists or angry OAP on a mobility scooter out of the way.

And with a stonking 4.0 litre diesel engine and an automatic gearbox, it's silky smooth for long motorway schlepps.

The all-wheel drive ML420 also has a massive boot for the doggies and will go anywhere you want it to, including to the top of mountains.

It's not, though, without its niggles – particularly from that auto box, which has a habit of grinding and buggering up royally.

MERCEDES ML420
(2007, £9,500)

PEUGEOT are basking in the glow of their new 308 GTI – which we'll be testing in the next few weeks.

But there's just one car the Pug needs to contend with, and that's the ubiquitous Ford Focus ST.

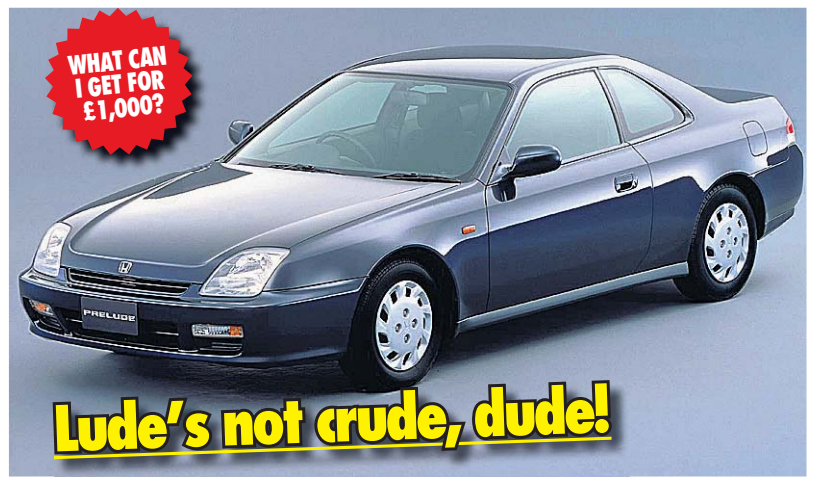
They've been around for yonks and they're still a whole lot of car for not too much dosh.

For this price you'll get a five-cylinder, 225bhp 2.5 litre 'SIV', which will shift the car from 0-60mph in 6.5 seconds. (Just don't mention the fact the engine has been pinched from every geography teacher's favourite brand, Volvo.)

It'll also reach 150mph should you ever find a road to prove it.

Just watch out for examples that have been well and truly ragged – as there will be plenty of those bastards out there!

FORD FOCUS 2.5 SIV ST
(2007, £4,500)



RELIABLE, powerful and distinctive – if you like your Japanese saloon cars to look a bit Yank, the Honda Prelude is the car for you.

Sure, it's got a whiff of Nineties muscle car about it, but the Prelude is more refined than that.

The 2.0 litre engine has 132 bhp while the 2.2 Tiptronic jobbie has 185 bhp. And it's significant that those who've bought one absolutely LOVE them. Check out the UK's biggest owner's club – www.ludegeneration.co.uk – if you want proof and stacks of extra info.

Oh, and if you get a 'Lude', get it whacked on lowered suspension, as they really do look the dog's bollocks when it's done.

HONDA PRELUDE
(1997, £900)

ROCK SONG!

THE chaps at KIA must be shitting their pants.

Because their South Korean rivals SsangYong are well and truly cornering a chunk of the UK market – ignore them at your peril.

Earlier this week SsangYong announced that they're opening another five new dealer franchises in the UK – from Doncaster, South Yorkshire, to Horsham, West Sussex – after seeing a sales spike.

And it's largely down to their quirky new Tivoli, a kinky SUV crossover more than capable of going toe-to-toe with the rather fashionable Nissan Juke.

A spokesman told Weekend Sport: "The arrival of the new Tivoli B-segment crossover has certainly increased interest in the franchise from across the motor trade.

"Confidence in the SsangYong brand has been growing steadily, as our sales performance indicates, but Tivoli has really fired-up enquiries from potential dealers.

"We're also now hearing from businesses representing premium brands looking for another string to their bow."

Don't say we didn't tell you – we've been championing SsangYongs for years now. And the Tivoli is another belting motor.

Smooth

There are two 1.6-litre engines to choose from – one petrol and one diesel. The petrol chucks out 128bhp the diesel mill 115 bhp.

If we had to choose, the diesel is the better bet, being more smooth and useable with a stonking 65 miles to the gallon to be eked out of it.

The interior, despite the budget price, is a lovely place to be, particularly the lush leather on the heated seats and the smart ergonomic steering wheel.

You will also get Bluetooth connectivity and a touch-screen system as standard. Chuck some more wedge at it and you'll get an automatic gearbox and four-wheel drive as well.

The handling isn't particularly sharp and there's a bit of body roll in tight corners, but it's still plenty of car for the money – and it sure looks stylish enough, too.

TRIUMPH THRUXTON R TRACK RACER (£12,000)

LIKE the lads from TOWIE, Triumph's range of Bonnevilles have been down the gym. Yup, this updated range has come back butch as fk where before they were a bit 'Elton John'.

There are three new bikes to choose from: the 900cc Bonneville Street Twin, the 1200cc T120, and the 1200cc new Thruxton. Each has a different chassis design and distinct engine, and none shares a single component with the existing Bonneville range.

But the bike you REALLY want is the new 'Thruxton R', a posh version of the standard Thrux which comes with Brembo monobloc brake calipers, Showa big piston forks, Öhlins rear suspension and Pirelli Diablo Rosso Corsa Tyres. Dip into the 'inspiration' accessories catalogue and you can get this 'Track Racer' fairing, too (bites fist in ecstasy!!).

DUCATTI SPORT CLASSIC (2008, £9,000)

RIDING the Ducati Sport Classic is entirely optional.

If you want, just plonk it in the garage and when you're feeling a bit glum, nip in and just simply stare at it for a while.

An hour or two will go by and you'll still be admiring its subtle curves as if it was a supermodel doing something rude with a banana.

That's because this bike is one of the sexiest you can buy for sensible money.

The 1000S is the one to go for. It comes with a full-on café racer style fairing and a ridiculously uncomfortable riding position.

One word of warning: there aren't many out there for sale.

They're presumably kept under lock and key by jealous-type owners!

GAMES

Grapple fans love it in the ring!

WWE 2K16
XBOX ONE, PS4

WWE 2K16 crushes its predecessor with as much impact as a Stone Cold Stunner.

Everyone involved seemed to recognise that mistakes were made in WWE 2K15 and have answered gamer's calls for a revamp by steering the game in a different direction.

This year's addition boasts the largest roster in the franchise's history – with well over 120 wrestlers. Most of the current stars feature, as well as many of the former legends of yesteryear.

Thanks to A state-of-the-art graphics engine, the game has the best visuals ever seen in a wrestling game.

Subtle touches have been improved by the developers for added realism – wrestlers show more sweat and perspiration on their bodies and even things like items of clothing now move individually.

Attention has also been focused on the overall gameplay and controls for many moves have been simplified compared to those from previous years.

Veterans may have a hard time adjusting to the new settings, but overall it's a much easier system than before.

Gamers may find that the character's managers are the most frustrating part of this game. Whenever a manager distracts a player, your wrestler automatically stops fighting.

This can become annoying, especially if you are in a situation where your opponent is about to attack, there's nothing you can do but watch on in frustration.

Allies

Another annoying feature that crosses over from 2K15 is that it's rare to end matches without using a signature or finishing move.

Even if opponents have had the shit kicked out of them, an ordinary move just won't be enough to end the match.

The MyCareer mode gives users a lot more control over their character – users can now choose how they want the character to act and who they choose as allies.

And you even have the option to interfere in other wrestler's matches to start off heated rivalries.

The sole 2K Showcase available involves the career of Stone Cold Steve Austin. This has its flaws, however, as he is the only wrestler playable in this mode and the goals for each match repeat themselves.

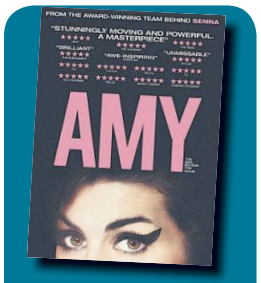
Despite the odd glitch here or there, WWE 2K16 is the best wrestling game on the market and an absolute must have for any hardcore gamer.

DVD

TERMINATOR: GENISYS (12) ★★★

WHEN John Connor, leader of the human resistance, sends Kyle Reese back to 1984 to protect Sarah Connor and safeguard the future, an unexpected turn of events creates a fractured timeline.

Hollywood making money out of an ageing Arnie, who should really know better.



AMY (15) ★★★★

AMY Winehouse was a musician that captured the world's attention and who wrote and sung from the heart using her musical gifts to analyse her own problems.

Superb documentary told in her own words, and you don't have to be a fan of her music to realise her death robbed the world of a talent.

SLOW WEST (15) ★★★

SET in the late 1800s, the story follows a 16-year-old lad as he goes on a journey from Scotland to America, travelling across the Wild West in an attempt to find his sweetheart.

Michael Fassbender stars in this modern take on the traditional Western – it doesn't quite come off, though.

BOOKS With JON WISE

DEAD JOKER* by Anne Holt (Corvus) ★★★★

FEELING glum now the clocks have gone back and the nights are drawing in? Need a good book to cheer you up?

The latest DI Hanne Wilhelmsen offering from Norway's 'Godmother of Crime' is just what the doctor ordered – as her life seems so depressing you can't help but feel better about yourself.

A top legal nob's missus is found with her head chopped off in front of a cosy fire. He's in the frame for the deed, until a local hack suffers the same fate.

Enter Hanne to get to the bottom of the matter, though she could do without it – her lover is dying.

But don't be put off – with a strong plot and writing as crisp as Scandi snow, Dead Joker is a real joy to read.

AFTER ALICE* by Gregory Maguire (Headline) ★★★

WHEN you're known for penning the book which became the blockbuster musical Wicked, fans always expect another big winner in the same vein.

It's unlikely this will be it, though the idea's good enough. The story belongs to Ada, a friend of Alice, who stumbles into Wonderland after her pal does.

We follow her adventures as she tracks Alice, and those of the woman who wants to know where both girls are.

It's clever but what's it all mean?

FOO FIGHTERS: Learning To Fly* by Mick Wall (Orion) ★★★★

IF you're into yer rock, reading anything by Mick Wall is worth the effort. The muso journo has churned out biogs on all the legendary bands and rock gods to the point where he's a legend himself.

Here he takes on Dave Grohl and the group he salvaged from the wreck of Nirvana, telling where he came from, what he did and how he did it to put Foo Fighters up there with the greats. Fascinating for those who want to follow the dream.

ALBUM

HIGHER THAN HERE
By James Morrison

CHART-TOPPER James Morrison returns with his fourth and equally mellow studio album that shows off his soulful voice but little else, featuring single Demons.

MOVIES

CAGE IS OPEN: But the beast is asleep

THE LAST CRUSADE

OH dear, Nicolas Cage – what have you done now?

The status of the actor's career has shifted from its entertainingly quite eccentric phase into its genuinely sad decline.

Fans of the Hollywood star are aware of his encounters with the US government with respect to taxes, so we can perhaps guess the reasons behind some of his more 'unusual' career choices.

I once interviewed a very well-respected character actor who was in the middle of a run of undistinguished films, and asked him what such a talented thespian with no money issues that I knew of was doing in all this rubbish.

And his answer was pretty simple: he's an actor. He likes to work.

But Cage doesn't seem to be liking what he's doing these days at all.

Outcast begins with some hot Crusades action, with Western dudes in armour slicing up non-Western dudes.

But Cage and co-star Hayden Christensen's warriors are embittered by all the crusading.

"Haven't you had enough of this killing for hypocrite priests?" Cage's Gallain asks Christensen's Jacob, in a weird near-British accent.

As swords clang, and Jacob chastises Gallain: "You're not the man you once were."

"None of us are," is the answer.

If you're still watching by this time – if you started watching it in the first place – I can only imagine that you're quite ill.

Outcast provides absolutely nothing of interest. It's actually embarrassing to watch.

There are hundreds of good to great action movies out there that you could watch instead of this. And some of them star Nicolas Cage.

BREAST SCENES IN MOVIE HISTORY

THAT Roman Polanski is a bit of a one, isn't he?

When not on the run from the Yanks for some decidedly dodgy stuff, he's making movies that always seem to involve ladies with no clothes on.

His little-seen 1972 flick What? featured then 21-year-old Sydne Rome in the Alice in Wonderland-like journey of a young American girl, Nancy, who takes shelter in an Italian villa after escaping from a would-be attacker.

The inhabitants of the villa are wacky, sex-crazed characters who menace and taunt Nancy during her stay.

So naturally when you fear for your safety, Nancy spends the majority of the film topless and fully NAKED.

At one point she wakes up to find a strange man performing oral sex on her in her sleep – before he angrily demands what she thinks she's doing in the villa!

Like I said – Mr Polanski is a very strange one indeed!

HERE'S your chance put the horror of the World Cup behind you in favour of some real Rio talent!

Suck Like A Brazillian may sound like the college course you wish your other half would sign up for but this amazing DVD is a celebration of the art of the BJ as performed by dusky South American lovelies.

It's from the house of Private so you know the girls, the studs and the production values are going to be tip-top but it's the technique on show here that sets it apart.

These girls, led by the stunning Sandy Rio, could get wood from a dead man.

It's generally thought that football is the national sport in Brazil but after sitting through almost three hours of this stunning collection I'm going to suggest that they could also take of the the world at c sucking!

We'd love to show you grabs but can't find any without a happy penis front and centre!

Welcome to the world famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's Agony Aunts can offer the level of advice or experience than our own Agony Angels! This week Charlotte has been reading your letters. Here's her advice, folks...

A

Dear Charlotte,

I'M a 35-year-old big-boobed bored housewife and the other week my cat got stuck in a tree.

Poor Tabby had been up there for hours before I called out the fire brigade and although they got him down, the chief gave me a mouthful, saying they had better things to do.

One of the younger firemen saw I was upset and he came to my house after his shift to apologise.

He then cheekily asked if I wanted to see his hose. I said yes and he whipped out an eight-inch monster which I then proceeded to suck.

He then sat down on a chair in my kitchen while I climbed on his lap and rode him until we came.

Before he left, I told him it was amazing and he said: "It's all part of the service."

Am I special or does he do this to all women?

KL, south London

Charlotte says...

ONLY if they have a pussy.

Dear Charlotte,

I WENT out bit of a run in the local park one morning a few days ago and ended up shagging some stunna in a bush.

Me and this blonde babe somehow managed to run into each other – we both had headphones on so I suppose we weren't paying to much attention to where we were going.

Anyway, the thing is, as we spoke there seemed to be some kind of instant attraction between us.

Within minutes we were tearing each other's clothes off and I was pulling aside her sweat-drenched knickers to lick her out. She moaned with delight and returned the favour by sucking on my throbbing manhood as she gently stroked my balls.

I then got her on to all fours and shagged her doggy-style but I managed to pull my thigh muscle as we both orgasmed. Now I can't go running for a few weeks. Any advice?

NB, Suffolk

Charlotte says...

STICK some ice on it – and I don't mean your leg!

Dear Charlotte,

I'VE been humping my best friend's girl for the last three months.

She's a gorgeous, chesty brunette in her early 20s and I'm 28.

Obviously, I'd met her loads of times before when going for nights out with my mate and the rest of our crowd and I'd noticed that we'd often find ourselves chatting together about this and that.

But one night I bumped into her in a pub on the other side of town when my friend was away on a business trip. It all took off from there. I chatted her up and she made it clear she was up for it. We wound up doing it and on the back seat of my car in the pub's car park.

We met more times and I found out how lucky my mate was – she's really horny and loves it doggy-style and also does anal.

My mate is meant to be marrying her next month and I'm the best man. But I've really fallen for his fiancée and have asked her to marry me instead!

She refused and said I'm just her final fling before she gets wed.

I'm gutted as I think she likes me. I'm thinking about telling my mate about our affair so I can stop the wedding.

Do you think I should?

TO, South Wales

Charlotte says...

NO! Just accept that she is marrying someone else, but maybe she'll keep fking you after the wedding.

Caught on film in his wife's undies!

Dear Charlotte,

Letter of the day

I FIND myself in a very difficult situation as I've been shagging my neighbour's wife, who's a really game an incredibly good-looking woman.

She's also a bit on the kinky side and loves me to fk her while I wear her bra, stockings and suspenders.

The thing is, I get a real kick out of wearing her lingerie while we're on the job, too.

A problem arose, though, after her hubby invited me and my missus round for drinks one evening a few weeks ago.

After we had been sitting chatting innocently for about three-quarters of an hour, he brought out his laptop.

To my horror, he had recorded footage of me and his wife getting down to it in their bedroom. As the video rolled on there was me wearing bra, stockings and sussies, nuts deep in his wife and pounding away at her for all I was worth, clearly enjoying every second.

I realised instantly that the dirty bd must have been hiding in the wardrobe filming the whole thing just to stitch me up.

As you can imagine, I was expecting a right mouthful from the wife, followed by a demand for a divorce.

Surprise

But I got an even bigger surprise when my missus said that what she was seeing was okay – even the bit where she saw her neighbour inserting a vibrator up my backside.

I had felt sure she would kick off but instead she wanted to know why she'd not been invited to take part in our sex fun. She then surprised me even more by suggesting that our neighbour's hubby could join in for good measure.

Well, it may sound sort of selfish but I didn't like the idea at all, though couldn't really complain could I?

So after a few more drinks my wife stripped to nothing but a pair of see-through briefs I didn't even know she had.

Before I knew it, both of my neighbours were on her, with the woman licking out my missus as she sucked on the bloke's engorged cock. They were clearly enjoying themselves but I could do nothing but watch them go at it.

But I wasn't left out for long. After he had shot his load all over my wife's face, I was invited to get my cock out and into her hungry mouth and she sucked me off while the neighbour's wife squeezed and licked my balls.

As this was going on the neighbour had recovered and was banging my missus.

After a while they told me to dress up in my wife's lingerie and get it on with the neighbour's wife, just like we did on the film.

While I was giving his wife one from behind I noticed my neighbour had his camera out and was filming my wife – who was pleasuring herself with a giant vibrator that had suddenly somehow appeared.

Seeing her legs splayed and the plastic tool plunging in and out of her sopping fanny was too much for me. I spunked all over his wife's boobs and was amazed when my wife licked my mess up.

Before the night was over, the women got a twin-ended dildo and fed each other while me and the neighbour shot our loads into their mouths.

It was a great night and we plan to do this more often. The trouble is my wife now insists I wear women's undies every time I have sex with her. I always considered a harmless fetish but this is taking it a bit too far, isn't it.

What do you reckon?

TK, East Sussex

Charlotte says...

THERE are all sorts of potential pitfalls when married couples turn into swingers. Just go with the flow.

Am I turning into a lesbian?

Dear Charlotte,

ALTHOUGH I'm 25 and have been going with my fella for a year, I still have these strange longings about having sex with another woman.

When I'm on my own I often take off all my clothes and stretch out on the bed and start to caress my boobs.

Then I slowly move my right hand down my belly and reach between my legs and start to finger my clit and pussy lips.

As I get wetter and wetter down there I think about other women, think about what it would be like to suck on a woman's clit, what it would be like to taste a woman's love juices, what it would be like to have a woman finger-fk me.

After a short while of masturbating while thinking these thoughts I come with explosive passion. Do these erotic thoughts mean I'm turning lesbo?

BR, Lincs

Charlotte says...

NOT at all, it means you're very sexy. Try it with a woman, you might like it – and I'm sure your fella would love to make up a threesome!

Testify by Echoic

READING'S Echoic are a band rapidly on the rise.

They've already built a large fan base through a strategy of relentless touring and their debut release Testify is sure to earn them many more.

Echoic blend lively indie stylings with heavier elements. The result is, probably, one of the most original, unique-sounding debut albums in ages!

The melodic guitars and lose percussion on tracks Testify and My Mind will appeal to fans of Foals' white funk stylings while their heavier riffs will surely appeal to the metal fraternity.

Testify doesn't take many listens to get lodged in your head. Lyrically and musically its a very impressive piece of work. Expect big things from Echoic in the future.

THIS IS A BIT OF AL-WHITE!

The Brotherhood of the Blade by Whitechapel

TENNESSEE'S Whitechapel are one of the most technically skilled bands on the deathcore scene.

They have also penned some of the genre's catchiest tunes.

So its not surprising that their first live album sounds almost like a best of – except for the riotous cheers in between tracks from the capacity hometown crowd in attendance.

The tracklist spans the band's nine-year, five album existence and it's packed with killer tunes.

Whitechapel kick off the set with Our Endless War from their 2014 album of the same name. Worship the Digital Age and The Saw is the Law also get the live treatment.

Their are plenty of classics on here, too!

Prostatic Fluid Asphyxiation and Vicer Exciser (from their 2007 debut The Somatic Defilement) both sound as groundbreaking and fresh today as they did on their original release – and they're played with precision and intensity here.

Other stand out tracks include I, Dementia and Section 8, two of the best tunes from their eponymous 2012 album.

There's also an accompanying DVD which not only features Whitechapel's homecoming gig but also includes exclusive footage of the band from behind the scenes.

This is an absolute must for metal fans and Whitechapel completists.

HOTTIE Cara Delahoyde 'fesses that she loves a bit of girl-on-girl action!

The 24-year-old stunna says she's mainly into men but drinks from the furry cup when it takes her fancy.

The 30C model said: "Some days I crave men, others I want to be with a woman.

"I change my mind all the time, but I'd say that 75 per cent of the time I fancy men.

"Attraction simply comes down to how hot the person is – it doesn't matter if it's a guy or a girl."

WHICH CELEB DO YOU HAVE A GIRL CRUSH ON?

It's Nicole Scherzinger. If a girl is REALLY sexy – like Nicole – then I'd always choose her over a bloke.

Nicole is so incredibly gorgeous. I'd love to get to grips with her in bed!

INDOOR OR OUTDOOR NOOKIE?

Sex outdoors is definitely a good one. If it's in the spring or summer then you can't beat a bit of al fresco passion.

I've shagged in fields and it was amazing. You have that niggling fear you may get caught, which is a real turn-on. Plus feeling the sun on your naked body is really an incredible feeling.

During the winter it isn't the same though. It would be far too cold! After September you have to take it back to the bedroom, where it's nice and warm. But that doesn't mean the sex suffers. If you're a bit chilly you can get cosy under the sheets. That always leads to sex.

By CLAUDIA TANNER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

DO YOU LIKE DRESSING UP IN THE BEDROOM?

Not really, no – I don't really see the point. By the time you get to the bedroom you know what's going to happen, so I always think 'why waste time putting on a sexy outfit? Just cut to the chase and get into bed'.

It's always better without clothes anyway. Blokes want to see your bum and your boobs, not a nicely-made bit of fabric. Women always look better naked.

SEX IN THE MORNING OR AT NIGHT?

Sex at night is incredible. You always look better in the evening than you do when you first wake up, and you want to have sex when you feel at your best.

I'd get him to take me out for a meal, wine and dine me. I'd have a couple of glasses of champagne to get me feeling frisky, and I then we'd go back to an expensive hotel suite before absolutely ruining the silk sheets!

I'm not a fan of morning sex – who wants to kiss someone with bad breath?

HOW MANY SEX TOYS DO YOU OWN?

Not that many really, I don't really like them. For me there is just no comparison between a bit of cod, hard plastic and the real thing.

I really think a willy wins hands down every time!

I love having a man lie on top of me – having him kiss my neck. You just don't get that kind of sexy intimacy with a vibrator.

I do use a toy when I'm alone though, depending on how much time I've got. And if I just want something quick I'll use my fingers.

But if I've got an evening free, I'll get the toys out.

GIVING OR RECEIVING ORAL?

I'm definitely a giver. I love the idea that I'm blowing someone's mind. I have quite a big mouth so I may as well use it!

HAVE A THREESOME WITH TWO GUYS OR TWO GIRLS?

I wouldn't want to have sex with two guys at a time. I feel it would be too aggressive. I'd much prefer to hook up with two girls. Women are so sexy. Nothing turns me on like a nice pair of boobs and a peachy bum.

DO YOU LIKE PORN?

I love watching girl-on-girl porn, yes! It turns me on so much. I particularly like point-of-view lesbian stuff. I have made my own before. I think everyone has.

It's a lot of fun for a one-off thing but I wouldn't want to do it all the time.

It was with an ex: We just thought that it would be something different.

I remember it well because I upped my performance for it – and it was one of the best sessions of my life!

DO YOU LIKE BUM FUN?

I'm a really adventurous girl but I still don't like the idea of anal sex – I'd rather just stick to the normal stuff!

VOLCANIC VACATIONS!

By JUSTIN DUNN
news@sundaysport.co.uk

EVER wondered what it's like to stare death in the face?

Well now you can – by taking a tour of the world's most active volcanoes!

The ones here are considered especially dangerous due to recent eruptions or for being included in the Decade Volcanoes list.

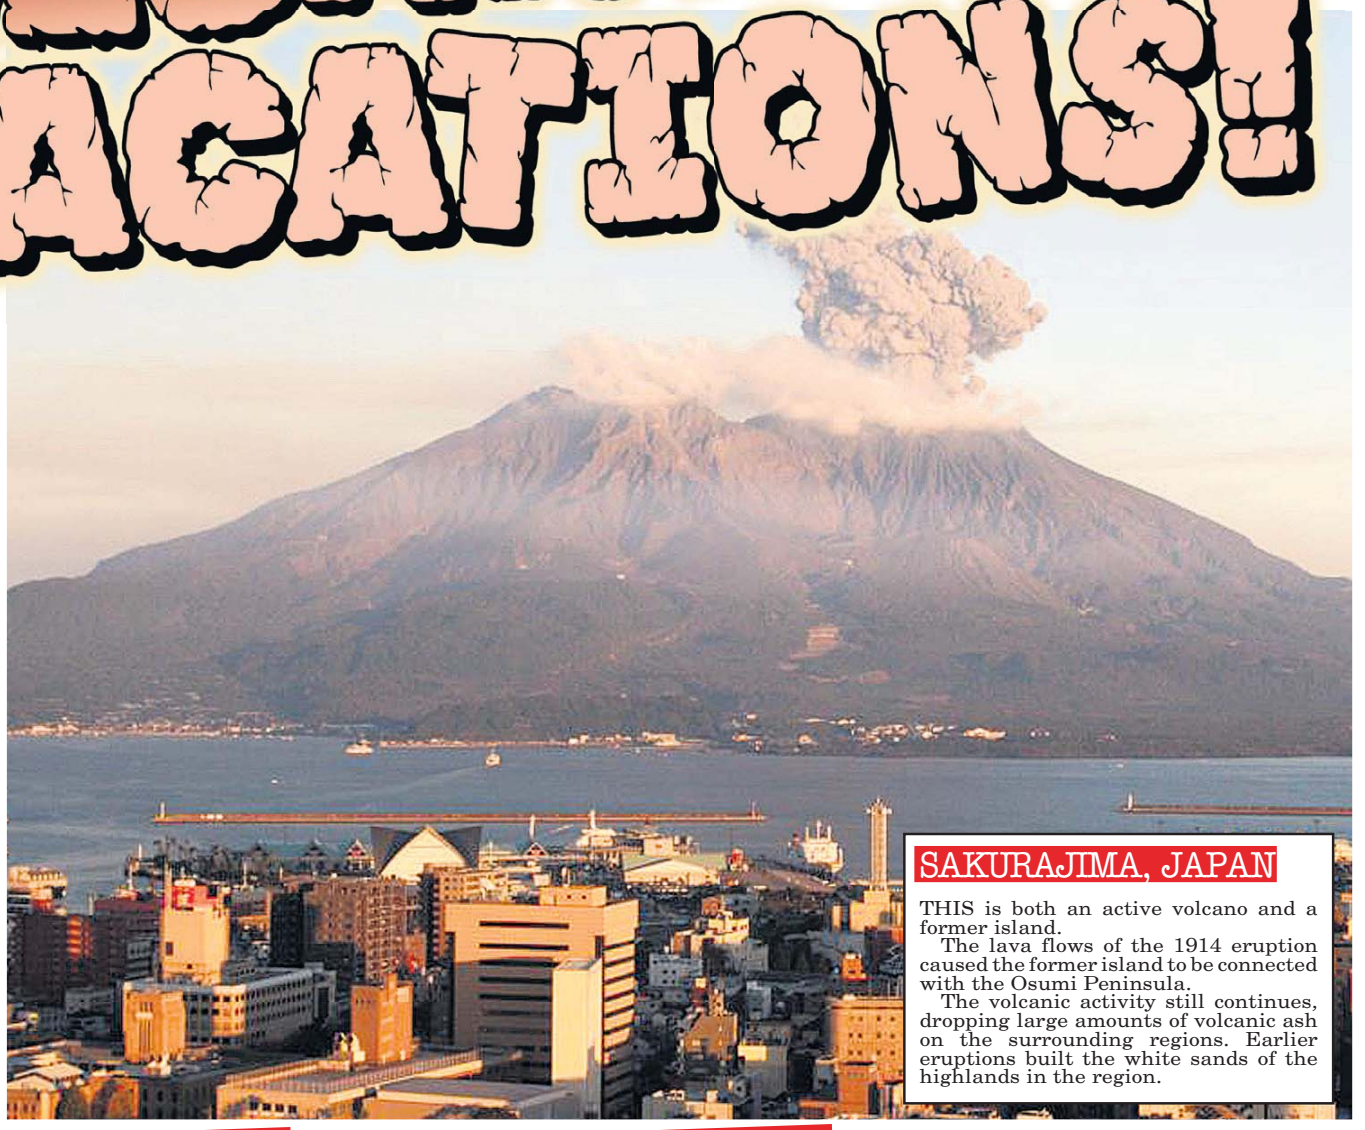
That lists 16 huge volcanoes worldwide identified by the International Association of Volcanology and Chemistry of the Earth's Interior (IAVCEI) as being worthy of particular study in light of their history of large, destructive eruptions and proximity to populated areas.

Basically, they're all accidents waiting to happen – so don't blame us if you burn your hiking boots!

MOUNT VESUVIUS, ITALY

LOCATED just 5½ miles east of Naples, making it the most densely populated volcanic region. Vesuvius has a history of activity that makes it one of the world's most dangerous volcanoes.

It last erupted in 1944, but the most famous was in 79 AD, when it buried Pompeii.



SAKURAJIMA, JAPAN

THIS is both an active volcano and a former island.

The lava flows of the 1914 eruption caused the former island to be connected with the Osumi Peninsula.

The volcanic activity still continues, dropping large amounts of volcanic ash on the surrounding regions. Earlier eruptions built the white sands of the highlands in the region.

EYJAFJALLAJÖKULL, ICELAND

ICELANDIC for "Island mountain glacier", this volcano is one of the smaller ice caps of Iceland. The ice cap covers the caldera of a volcano with a summit elevation of 5,466 ft.

The 2010 eruption caused enormous disruption to air travel across

MOUNT MERAPI, INDONESIA

"FIRE Mountain" is an active volcano located on the border between Central Java and Indonesia.

It is the most active volcano in Indonesia and has erupted regularly since 1548.

Thousands of people live on the flanks of the volcano – clearly nutters!

MOUNT NYIRAGONGO, D.R OF CONGO

AN active volcano located inside Virunga National Park, in the Democratic Republic of the Congo.

The main crater is about 1½miles wide and usually contains a lava lake which at times been the most voluminous ever.

ULAWUN, PAPUA NEW GUINEA

SITUATED on the island of New Britain, it is the highest mountain in the Bismarck Archipelago at 7,657 ft, and one of the most active volcanoes in Papua New Guinea.

Thousand live nearby, even though there have been 22 recorded eruptions since the 18th century.

TAAL VOLCANO, PHILIPPINES

THE second most active volcano in the area with 33 historical eruptions, all concentrated on Volcano Island, near the middle of Taal Lake.

Taal Volcano and Lake presents one of the most picturesque and attractive views in the Philippines – except when it blows.

MAUNA LOA, HAWAII

ONE of five volcanoes that form the Island of Hawaii and the largest on earth in terms of volume and area covered. The name "Mauna Loa" means "Long Mountain".

Lava eruptions from Mauna Loa are very fluid but eruptions tend to be non-explosive.

GALERAS, COLOMBIA

THIS monster has a summit which rises 14,029ft above sea level. It has erupted frequently since its first historical eruption on December 7, 1580.

A 1993 eruption killed nine people, including six scientists who had descended into the volcano's crater to sample gases.

SANTA MARÍA, GUATEMALA

ERUPTIONS at Santa María began about 30,000 years ago and have built up a 4,600ft cone which looms over the nearby city of Quetzaltenango.

Its eruption in 1902 was one of the four largest of the 20th century

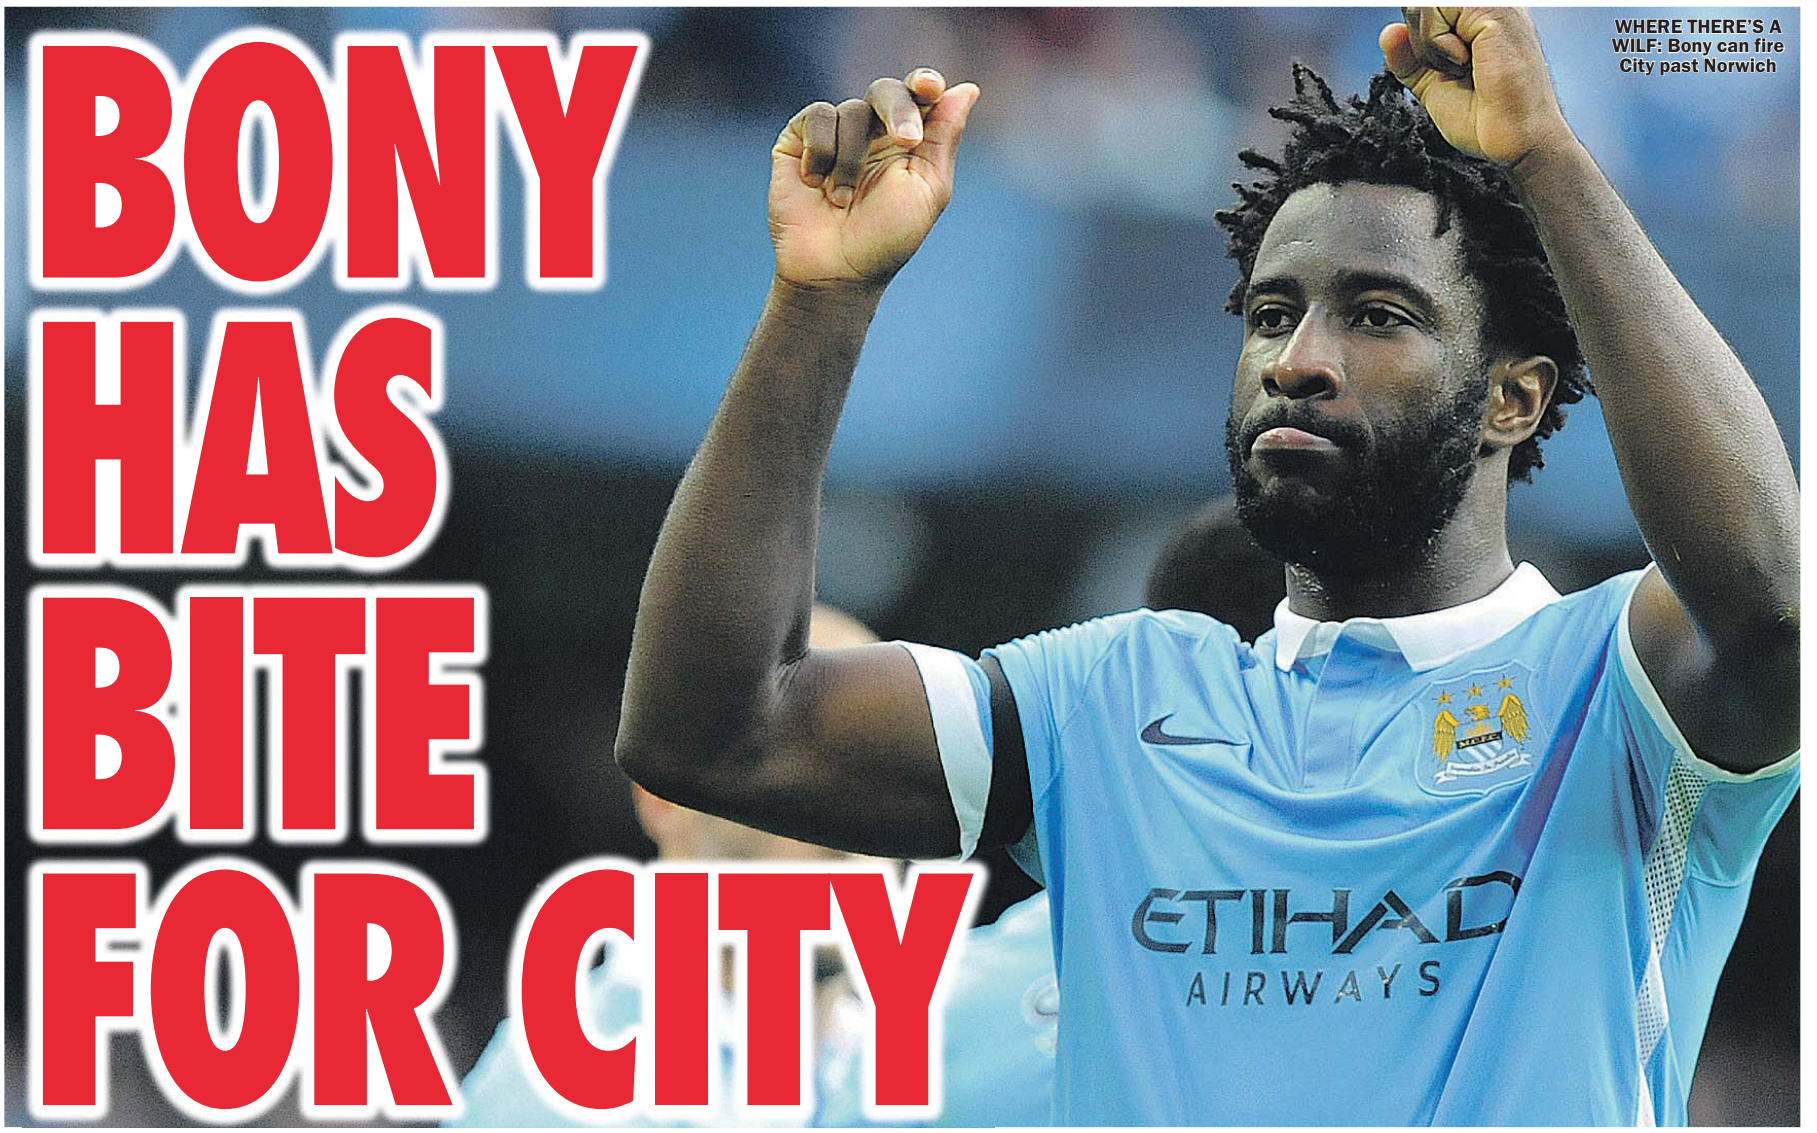
BONY HAS BITE FOR CITY



WHERE THERE'S A WILF: Bony can fire City past Norwich

MAN CITY v NORWICH

★MANCHESTER City have won 11 of their last 12 home games in the Premier League.

They have banged in an incredible 11 goals in their last two home matches, thumping Newcastle 6-1 and following that up with a 5-1 victory against Bournemouth.

Today they entertain Norwich, who will be buoyed by their solid performance away at Everton midweek in the cup but in the end they lost out on penalties.

The corresponding fixture back in November 2013 saw the Canaries get hammered 7-0 and, although it would be hard to see a repeat of that magnificent scoreline, you can't see anything for the Norfolk outfit.

The major problem Norwich have is they don't have a striker that can really hurt a top team.

Apart from the 6-2 battering at Newcastle, they have looked fairly solid at the back but they simply do not win enough games.

No victory in their last five sees them even at this early stage in a real dog fight for their Premier League survival. You would have to be a mad man to expect them to get anything today against a rampant City team.

Plenty of injuries for the home side to worry about but the 11 that take to the field will rip Norwich apart and leave Alex Neil scratching his head.

You have to question the manager because he is guilty at times being naive tactically.

I hear he is a very good coach but he is yet to show me he is a very good manager. He best wake up quick or the Premier League riches will be a thing of the past and he will be heading straight back down to the Championship.

Make Man City your coupon bankers at 3/10 — but if you want something a bit tastier look at 20/23 for City to win HT and FT or 6/5 City to win and Bony to score.

SOUTHAMPTON v BOURNEMOUTH

★It is like taking sweets off a kid this going against Bournemouth malarkey.

Every week Eddie Howe sets his team up wrong and he still is to grasp that at this level you get severely punished for every mistake you make.

The Cherries keep on trying to play it out from the back and they are simply not good enough to do this.

They give the ball away too easy, make lots of individual errors, can't defend set pieces and most of all will arrive at this game low on confidence after conceding 10 in their last two league games.

On Sunday, they come up against one of the best teams in the league at closing down the opposition in Southampton.

While I think Howe is sadly lacking in the qualities to manage at the top table his counterpart Ronald Koeman is a manager I have great respect and admiration for.

The Dutch maestro spoiled Jurgen Klopp's party last week in a 1-1 draw at Anfield but what impressed me was his disappointment with his team's performance and that speaks volumes to me.

Koeman is not a man to settle for anything but the best from his players.

He knows his team's strengths and weaknesses and gets the best out of every player wearing the Southampton shirt.

Southampton have scored at least two goals in eight of their last nine home matches and Bournemouth have been losing at both HT and FT in their last three away matches in the league.

Get on the Saints at 4/7 or if you want to push the boat out look at 29/20 for Southampton to win HT and FT or 9/4 Mane to score and Southampton to win.

SPURS v ASTON VILLA

★Spurs fans are in for a treat on Monday night because they see their team take on Villa.

Tim Sherwood has been axed but he was not the problem and Villa look to be a club in big trouble.

They sit rock bottom of the league with just one victory against their name and that was against Bournemouth.

Six defeats on the spin and you'd have to be confident the 7th is coming on Monday.

Back Spurs at 4/9 or Harry Kane to score and Spurs to win at 13/10.

VARDY BOY CAN DO IT AGAIN

★I tipped up Jamie Vardy to hit the back of the night for a sensational second game in a row last week at 13/8 and he never let us down.

If it is not broke why fix it is my thinking so I'm backing him to hit number eight against West Brom.

We can get 7/4 for the hottest striker in the Premier League to do the business and we should strike while the iron is hot.

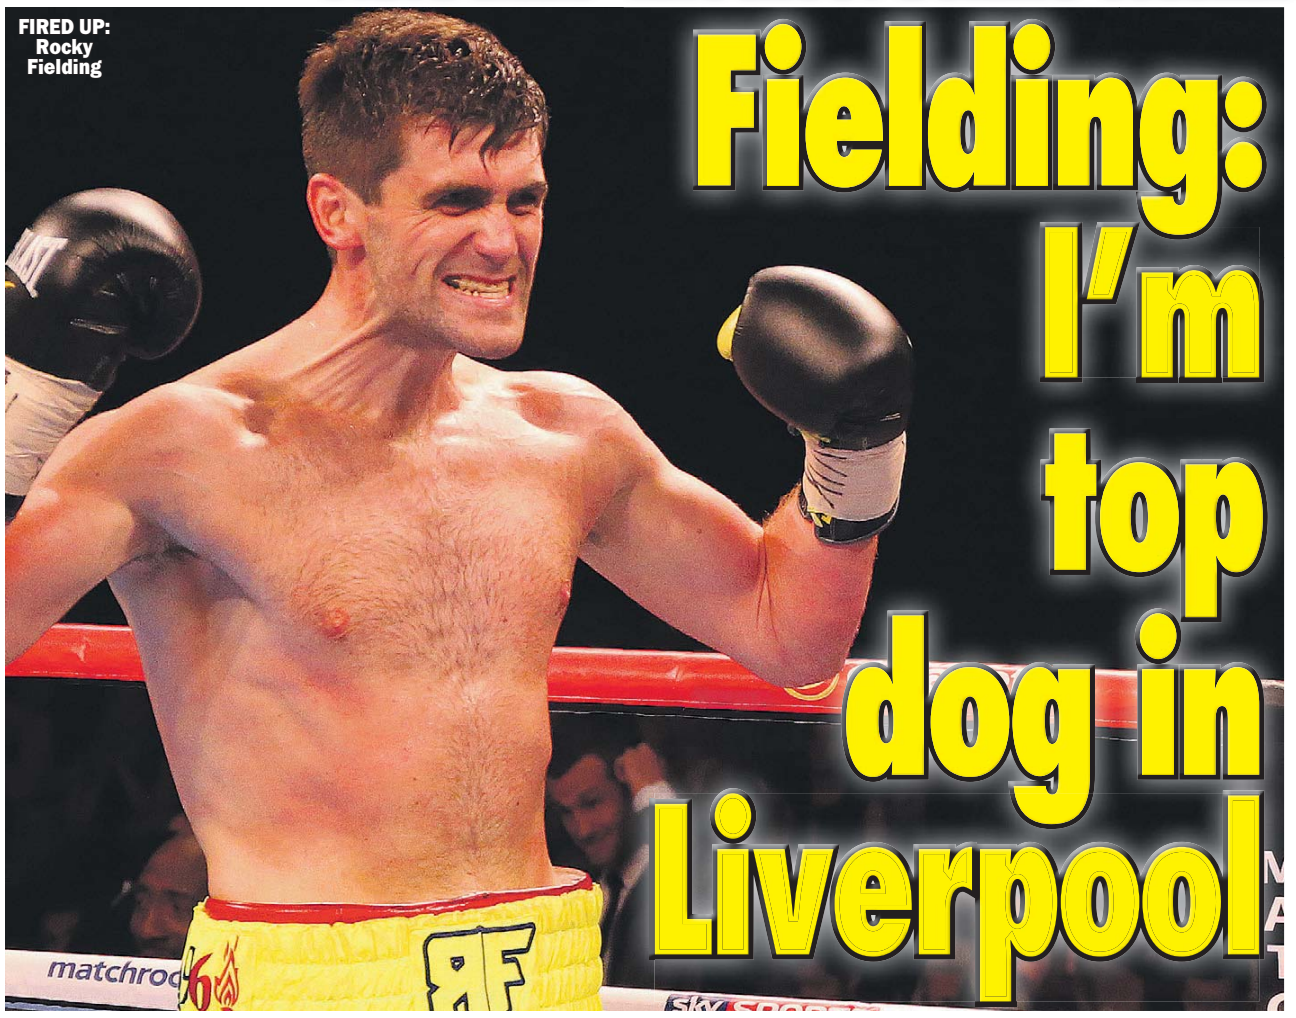
LILLO'S RINGPIECE

STEVE LILLIS' KNOCKOUT BOXING COLUMN



FIRED UP: Rocky Fielding

Fielding: I'm top dog in Liverpool

ROCKY READY TO SILENCE SMITH

ROCKY FIELDING insists he has the power to blow away Callum Smith in their Scouse grudge clash next week.

The vacant British super-middleweight title is at stake, but crucially bragging riots in their back yard means as much.

Unbeaten Smith (below) is considered one of boxing's best prospects, but Fielding is talking a big game ahead of their clash at Liverpool's Echo Arena on November 7.

Distance

Rocky believes that Smith has struggled to put away two of his tougher opponents in Nikola Sjekloca and Christopher Rebrasse, and questions his wrecking power.

"It's a great fight, one I am confident that I can win, and I think I will knock him out," said Fielding.

"He's been in with Sjekloca and Rebrasse who cannot punch and gone the distance. They caught him with shots that if I threw them, they would hurt him.

He's a good fighter, he's doing his thing, and I knew that they would say they have not seen anything different from me, but when we get in there they will see what I am capable of.

"He's been putting away blown up Middleweights with his body shots. He put Rebrasse down with one but he got up, take that away and what has he got?

"When I come in throwing shots from different angles and with both hands,

"I've been knocking people clean out – putting them to sleep like I did with Luke Blackledge – he can whack but so can I."

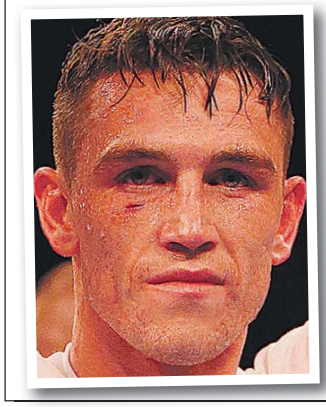
Smith is the youngest of the four fighting brothers. Eldest Paul is a two time world title challenger, Stephen is to challenge for the IBF super-featherweight title next year and Liam recently became WBO world light-middleweight champion.

And with all three brothers accompanying Callum to the ring, Fielding's arch rival will be drenched in confidence.

Smith hit back at Fielding's KO boast, saying: "He's got a short memory, he goes on that he can take people out and I can't — but I've knocked out two people that he couldn't.

"There's a lot of people with split opinions and it's not nice when people say that you are going to lose.

"I feel like I have got a point to prove."



ENZO READY TO FACE LEGEND

ENZO MACCARINELLI will face American legend Roy Jones Jr in Moscow, Russia on December 12

The Swansea man will face the five time world champion in a 12-round cruiserweight bout and has a real chance of springing an upset.

"Jones was a great great fighter, certainly the best of his era and a fighter that I admired, but that has to be put to one side.

"I've been campaigning at light-heavyweight for the last few years and I was recently nominated to fight for the EU title which I was all set to do, but my promoter Frank Warren came in with this fantastic opportunity."

ALL BLACKS WANT TO GO OUT ON HIGH

RUGBY UNION WORLD CUP FINAL
NEW ZEALAND v AUSTRALIA — SAT, 4PM, ITV1

NEW ZEALAND are bidding to become the first country to retain the Rugby World Cup — against their deadliest rivals Australia.

And the All Blacks have a quintet of star men hanging up their boots after the Twickenham showpiece.

Kiwi boss Steve Hansen has named the same 15 men that fought off South Africa 20-18 in their dramatic semi-final.

Captain Richie McCaw, Dan Carter, Ma'a Nonu, Conrad Smith and Keven Mealamu will all bow out of international rugby with 486 caps between them.

Hansen said: "We came here as contenders for the World Cup, just like everyone else.

"In our minds we have never been defenders.

"We knew we would have to earn the right to progress through the tournament so being in the final is very satisfying in its own right.

"The ultimate goal has always been to win it, so we are exactly where we need to be to try and achieve that."

The All Blacks are putting out a highly experienced team with 14 of the starters having clocked up double figure numbers of caps.

And Hansen says that gives them an edge over the Aussies who have had a rougher ride to the final.

CONFIDENT: Hansen

He added: "Both teams have arrived at the final by different pathways.

"We've had the luxury of building game by game throughout the whole tournament, while Australia have had to be at their very best right from day one.

"Mental fortitude and physical endurance, together with skill, execution and sheer desire, will be the key ingredients come Saturday."

Away from the final, England star Sam Burgess has laughed off talk that he's going back to rugby league.

He's having a few days off from Bath after the World Cup but will be back with his club next week.

Sam crocked for Kiwi clash

RUGBY LEAGUE

SAM TOMKINS will miss England's Test series with New Zealand.

The Wigan full-back (above) will sit out the three matches with the knee injury he's been struggling with since last season.

England coach Steve McNamara said: "It is a great shame that Sam will miss the series against New Zealand. We wanted to give him every chance to confirm his fitness but it wasn't to be."

Tomkins missed the weekend rout of France but was training well and expected to play a full part against the much stronger Kiwis.

He broke down yesterday, with McNamara saying: "We were aware of the injury he sustained back in New Zealand playing for the Warriors but all the information we had was that, if he strengthened the knee to a certain level, he would be fit to play in the first Test.

"With those odds, we took the opportunity to include him in the squad and he's done a brilliant job.

"He's worked so, so hard and really has strengthened his knee but there is an underlying issue there and he will have to go back and seek further opinions in the next few weeks.

"We're disappointed as a squad. It's a little bit of blow to us but it's a bigger blow for Sam."

The first Test is at Hull's KC Stadium on Sunday.

SKY BET CHAMPIONSHIP SATURDAY'S CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH PREVIEWS

Bristol City v Fulham

Saturday, 3pm kick-off

STEVE Cotterill thinks his players are a lot better than their league position suggests.

City sit in 20th as they welcome Fulham but the Robins boss is full of praise for his squad.

They return to Ashton Gate after away games at Cardiff and leaders Brighton.

Cotterill said: "We may have only taken one point, but it could so easily have been six.

"We've gone away to two of the better sides in this division, played some fantastic football and given them a scare.

"They've come on a million miles and I'm delighted for them."

Burnley v Huddersfield

Saturday, 3pm kick-off

HUDDERSFIELD keeper Jed Steer says the Terriers can cause an upset at Turf Moor.

Sean Dyche's Burnley sit third in the table and look a good bet for a play-off place at the very least.

While Town are struggling near the wrong end of the table, the goalie is confident.

He said: "It will be tough.

"They've kept a lot of their Premier League players and they are a strong side.

"But we are doing our homework, and we are looking forward to going there.

"We are ready to go again."

Derby v Rotherham

Saturday, 3pm kick-off

TOM Ince is a major doubt for the Millers' visit to take on the Rams.

The forward picked up an ankle injury against Huddersfield.

Boss Paul Clement said: "Tom is a very valuable player to us.

"There are possibilities for me and I will be thinking hard what we are going to do on Saturday if Tom is not available.

"Whether he is available for the game, we are not quite sure yet.

"He might be pushed for that but we hope he is going to be back involved sooner rather than later.

"But we have options to bring in."

Ipswich v Cardiff

Saturday, 3pm kick-off

KENWYNE Jones is close to full fitness but will miss Cardiff's trip to the Tractor Boys.

The striker has been out since the start of the month after being injured playing for Trinidad And Tobago.

Cardiff have struggled for goals without the big man.

City boss Russell Slade said: "Kenwyne's a major doubt for Ipswich, but we'll see how it goes.

"We are hoping he will be out on the grass and will start doing a bit of work, running-wise.

"In truth, Ipswich will be looking just that bit too soon for him though."

POINTING THE WAY: Blues boss Rowett

Cooking on Gaz

BLUES BOSS HAS EYES ON PROMOTION

GARY Rowett says nothing less than promotion is good enough for Blues this season.

The Birmingham chief goes into the West Midlands derby against Wolves on the back of a decent start to the campaign.

They sit in sixth place, nine points ahead of the Molineux men.

It's a big change around from last season, which was a struggle at St Andrew's.

All that changed when Rowett came in and his first year in charge has been a major success. And he says he has turned things around by concentrating on getting results — by whatever means.

Rowett said: "I am not too bothered how we win, I just want to win.

"What we are good at is creating chances quickly, exciting fans with high-octane football.

"Why can't we be a team challenging at the top of the table?

"There is always one team in and and around it, sometimes the strength of a team can overcome financial gains.

"If we keep on working hard and progressing, why not. We have an opportunity to aspire to that.

"There is no point aiming for mid-table. I would quit if that was our aim."

Rowett has urged his players to maintain their encouraging start to the season.

He added: "It's important that we stay humble and keep working hard.

"It's not about points targets and tallies, it is about a performance cycle."

For Wolves, Conor Coady is looking forward to his first derby since moving to the Black Country.

The midfielder thinks his side will be a tough nut to crack when they venture down the M6.

Coady said: "I can't wait. Everyone at the club is looking forward to it.

"It's massive for us, it's massive that we come away with a good result.

"A lot of the boys have grown up watching derbies.

"I grew up with Liverpool v Everton and played in Huddersfield v Leeds.

"I know all about derbies and the boys are buzzing for it."

Birmingham v Wolves

GREG WANTS HOME HELP

GREG Cunningham wants Preston to show their own fans what they can do.

North End have been doing well on their travels but are still looking for their first league win of the season at Deepdale.

A Lancashire derby against rock-bottom Bolton adds a bit more spice to the game, but it's all about getting a win for the defender.

North End need the victory as they sit in 19th, just three points ahead of the Trotters.

Cunningham said: "The lads are keen to be back playing in front of the home fans and our target is a first win here.

"We have probably been a bit unlucky in a couple of the games at Deepdale so far, the Wolves game springs to mind, so does Ipswich. There were a couple which we have deserved to win and now we have to make sure we start taking points.

"We have been in every game this season.

"Not once have we felt 'my word, we're out of our depth here'.

"At times we haven't had the rub of the green, at other times we've been punished for making mistakes.

"We have had a couple of good results on the road in the last week and now is the time to kick-on and hopefully get a result back here.

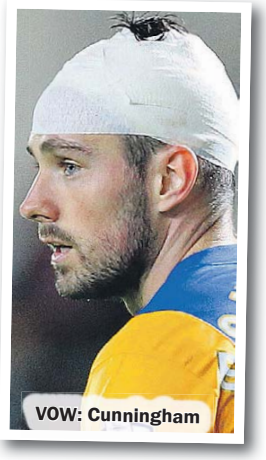
"There is no way that we will be under-estimating Bolton.

"They are struggling a bit having played some good stuff but not getting results.

"You look at the gap from mid-table to the bottom and it is only a few points, it's tight."

Preston v Bolton

Saturday, 6pm, Sky Sports 1



VOW: Cunningham

Middlesbro v Charlton

Saturday, 3pm kick-off

BORO are on a roll after their sensational midweek win against Man United.

And boss Aitor Karanka says his team full deserved to win in the Capital One Cup at Old Trafford.

He said: "I think we were the better side.

"I said to the players before the extra-time that I felt we were better than them, we were more confident on the pitch, we were fitter than them and for this reason I have to say how proud I am of my players.

"The main thing is the performance and the performance against a big team like Manchester United was amazing."

MK Dons v Hull City

Saturday, 3pm kick-off

HULL head to MK Dons full of confidence after knocking Leicester out of the Capital One Cup in midweek.

Boss Steve Bruce says his side deserved to knock out the Premier League boys in a penalty shoot-out.

He said: "We stuck at it and we deserved to go through.

"Let's be fair, it wasn't a fluke. I can't really remember my keeper having a save to make until the penalties.

"We know at home we can give anyone a game, especially when I've seen a performance like that."

Reading v Brighton

Saturday, 3pm kick-off

BRIGHTON could throw Jake Forster-Caskey into the team after he returned from his loan at MK Dons this week.

He was with the Dons for a month, playing twice and making a good impression.

Albion boss Chris Hughton says he has a future on the south coast and Forster-Caskey is in contention for the trip to Reading as Brighton look to maintain their lead at the top.

Dons boss Karl Robinson said: "He is certainly someone that we would like to have back. After the international break we will look to re-visit it."

Sheff Wed v N Forest

Saturday, 3pm kick-off

DOUGIE Freedman could be out of a job if Forest crash against Wednesday.

There is growing talk that the Scot will be out, with Nigel Clough heading the list of managers being lined up to replace him.

Freedman has won just three of his past 22 games as Forest have sunk down the table.

Clough junior would be a popular choice with the fans, even if he was once manager of deadly rivals Derby.

It seems harsh on Freedman who has been prevented from buying players by the club's transfer embargo. He has also lost key men.

CHARLIE McCANN

WITH HIS SPORTING ODDS AND ENDS

FOR FOX SAKE: Vardy looks unstoppable at the moment

Jamie's a gr-eight bet to score again

VARDY 15/8 TO JOIN SELECT GROUP

JAMIE VARDY has already bagged 10 goals, but could soon join a new elite of the Premier League.

The Foxes striker will become only the third player to score in eight successive Premier games if he can find the back of the Albion net at the Hawthorns at the weekend.

Vardy's is a wonder story from lowly Stocksbridge Park Steels to Leicester City and from winger to an international striker.

His pace and ability has the eye of by Jurgen Klopp who has strikers aplenty, but they are either unfit or not scoring goals.

Vardy is 15/8 at BetVictor to find the back of the net at anytime during the 90 minutes on Saturday.

If he does score against the Baggies he will join Daniel Sturridge (top) and former Manchester United legend Ruud van Nistelrooy (bottom) – the only players to have netted in eight Premier League games on the trot.

★After what seems like forever, but is actually only seven or eight months the Rugby World Cup Final takes place at Twickenham on Saturday with the two best sides on the planet going head-to-head.

New Zealand have been ranked the No.1 nation in World Rugby since November 2009 and there is a certain inevitability about their march to the Final – to face the current world No.2 ranked team.

They are 2/5 favourites at BetVictor with the Wallabies 9/4 and the draw at 20/1.

The Aussies are Evens at BetVictor with a six point start on the handicap, but the All Blacks beat the Aussies 41-13 the last time the nations met, albeit in Auckland, and the All Blacks -6 at Evens must be the recommendation.

I'm not convinced that tonight's Bronze Final will be the most competitive rugby international ever staged, but I think South Africa will clinch third place and they can give up the eight points at BetVictor on the handicap again at Evens.

★There are four Breeders' Cup races taking place at Keeneland, Kenucky this evening, but much nearer to home and tomorrow at Ascot, I'm looking forward to the return of Sign Of A Victory in the handicap hurdle.

The selection won the corresponding race off a stone lower mark last season and connections hoped he might make up into a Champion Hurdle contender.

He must have good ground to be seen at his best but he is clearly best fresh and is subject to some favourable gallop reports.

At 5/1 each way (1/4 odds first four) at BetVictor he can reward each way support, but he does need good ground to be seen at his best.

GEORGI: WE NEED TO BE A FOUR-CE

Newcastle United v Stoke City

Saturday, 3pm kick-off

GEORGINIO WIJNALDUM has warned Stoke that Newastle are desperate to get last week's demolition derby out of their system.

The Magpies were swatted 3-0 by deadly rivals Sunderland are a stuck in 19th place.

They fired SIX past Norwich in their last home game, with Wijnaldum scoring four – making that an excellent six in only nine games.

And the Dutchman wants more of the same against the Potters.

He said: "You must always recover. We beat Norwich 6-2 and now we want to win against Stoke City.

"We've trained hard and worked hard.

"We have lost the derby, that's the situation. We have to deal with it now.

"You can say anything you want in the media.

"We have to do it on the field now. We must react with good results and nothing else.

"Great results will make you happy."

Toon skipper Fernando Coloccini has had the red card he was shown against Sunderland chalked off.

Painful

His dismissal was a key turning point in the game and he hasn't forgiven the referee for his mistake.

The Argie defender said: "It is not a surprise to me that the red card was overturned because it was a wrong decision.

"I am happy because I am able to play against Stoke, but it does not change what happened on Sunday.

"The red card affected the game and the result, which was very painful for everyone in the club and the city.

"We lost the game, we lost three points and we lost the derby.

EAGER: Wijnaldum

"We cannot get that back, and that is why I cannot be too happy about winning the appeal — it does not change these things.

"As soon as the referee gave the red card, I knew it was wrong. I spoke with the referee but he had made his decision."

Stoke knocked Chelsea out of the Capital One cup in midweek, with club captain Ryan Shawcross making his first appearance of the season.

The defender hopes to keep his place at St James's Park.

He said: "I'm sure I'll be available for selection again on Saturday, but it's up to the manager and whether he decides to picks me."

Brentford v Queens Park Rangers

Friday, 7.45pm kick-off, live on Sky Sports 1

Injured Austin set to sit on his R's

CHARLIE AUSTIN will have to play a waiting game before returning to the QPR side.

Boss Chris Ramsey says he won't rush his star striker back for the west London derby against Brentford.

The Hoops need three points after slipping to 10th in the table — and the Bees could go above them with a victory.

Austin (right) is on a hot streak, with seven goals in his past nine games. But Ramsey wants to make sure the hitman is fully fit.

He said: "We'll check on Charlie Austin before the game.

"He wants to be back in the team, but you have to get it right after an injury. Sometimes you have to protect players from themselves."

Jay Emmanuel-Thomas has been leading the QPR line in Austin's absence.

And Ramsey has no intention of dropping him. He said: "I think we can accommodate both.

"Jay will play at Brentford, it's now for him to lose his place. He's worked very hard."

LATEST ON SATURDAY'S PREMIER LEAGUE GAMES

WHAT A LOAD OF BLANKERS

Lou's fury at misfiring Reds

LOUIS VAN GAAL admits he's worried about his shot-shy United.

The Reds head to Selhurst Park on the back of two 0-0 draws — including against Championship side Middlesbrough.

They couldn't hit the target over 120 minutes in the Capital One cup and even managed to miss THREE penalties as they crashed out in a shoot-out.

That was embarrassing in front of their own fans, with a strong side taking to the field.

It was no disgrace to draw a blank against City in the weekend derby, but Van Gaal is scratching his head about where the goals will come from against Crystal Palace.

Crystal Palace v Man United

Saturday, 3pm kick-off

The Dutchman said: "In football what only matters is a goal.

"We have played two matches 0-0 and in my opinion we could've scored against Manchester City and now again and don't score.

"It is a concern, but I do know also it can easily turn around in the next game."

United made chances against Boro, but not as many as you would expect from a side riding high in the Premier League.

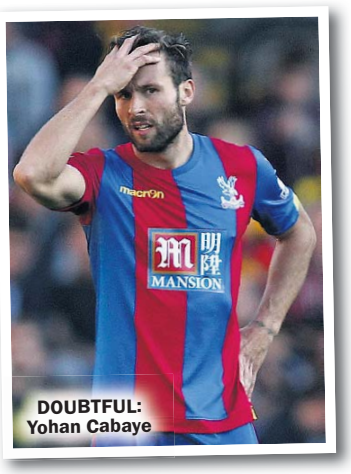
Van Gaal added: "It's very difficult to create chances. We needed more time to disorganise them. We did that.

"Later on we created much more, but you have to finish chances. In extra time there were better chances than the second half.

"When you are not finishing – there were very easy chances in front of goal – it is very difficult to win a game. Goals are counting not chances.

"We were unlucky. I said after City also that was also 0-0.

"You have to force luck and we didn't do that — we didn't score."



DOUBTFUL: Yohan Cabaye

Mauling

United's task against Palace might be made easier as key Eagles midfielder Yohan Cabaye is a major doubt for tomorrow.

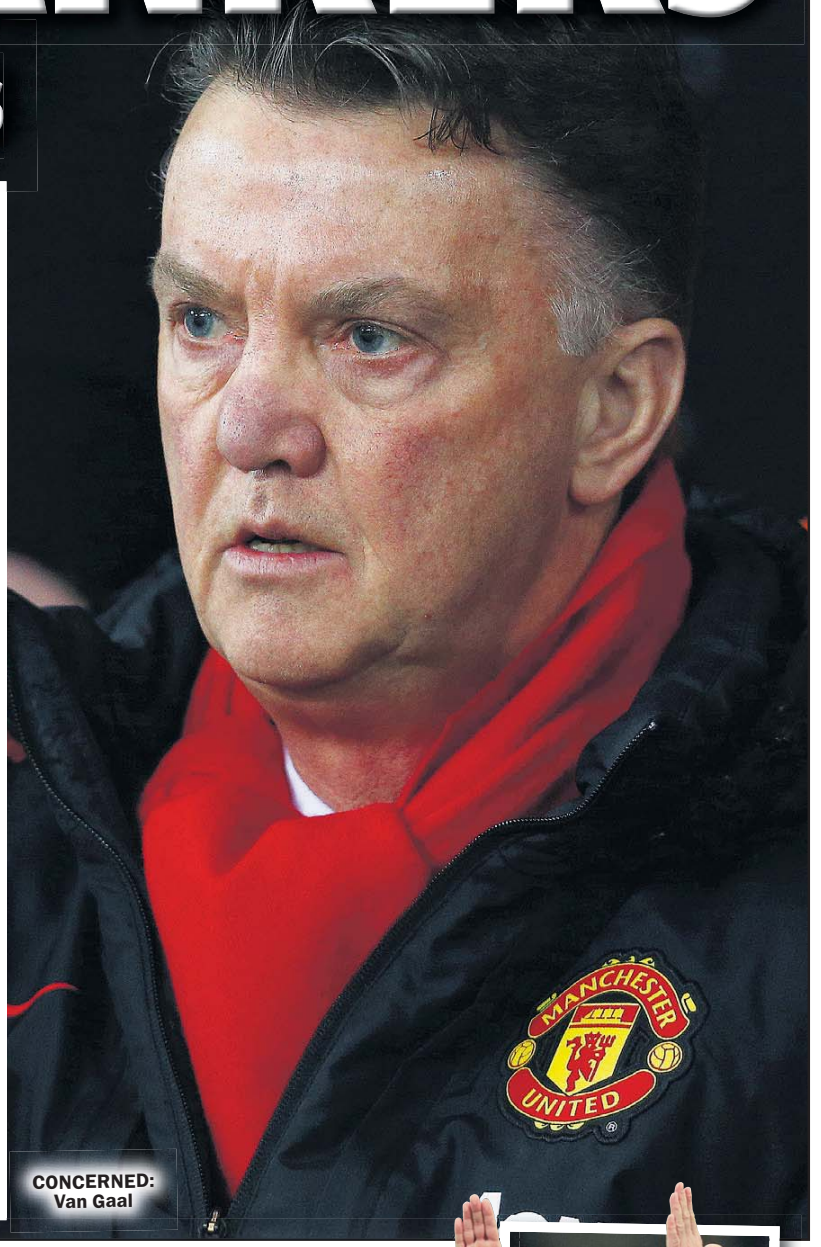
He missed the 5-1 midweek whooping in the Capital One cup against Manchester City.

Palace boss Alan Pardew said: "Cabaye was injured and we are sweating on him for Saturday."

The gaffer apologised to the travelling fans for the mauling at the Etihad and wants to thank them by beating United.

He said: "I know some of the fans had trouble getting there, so we'd like to say thank you and I hope we can repay them.

"It was a disappointing display, more offensively than defensively. We kept turning the ball over."



CONCERNED: Van Gaal

OBSESSED: Ranieri

Rani wants team spirit to help his tomatoes!

West Brom v Leicester

Saturday, 3pm kick-off

CLAUDIO RANIERI has kept up his obsession with pizza — this time saying the Leicester fans are like a load of tomatoes.

The Foxes gaffer famously promised to take his players for an Italian if they ever kept a clean sheet.

They finally managed a shut-out last week when beating Crystal Palace 1-0 last weekend.

And now Ranieri has brought the club's supporters into his tasty team-talks.

He said: "The fans are like the tomatoes. Without them, there can be no pizza!"

But he wants his side to show their spirit against West Brom by bouncing back from their Capital One cup defeat in midweek.

Leicester went down to Championship side Hull on penalties.

Ranieri added: "I'd like if the players show good character. We lost on Tuesday, but now to react. There's a good spirit.

"Our life is good because we do what we want to do. There is a lot of adrenaline."

Suck

The Italian knows that it will take a big effort to get the better of the Baggies.

West Brom are on a good run and have climbed up to 10th in the table on the back of wins against Sunderland and Norwich.

Ranieri said: "All the Premier League matches are tough. It's good though – it's an interesting season.

"West Brom close all the space well, press well and counter attack well. We must be careful if we want to win the match.

"Tony Pulis has done a fantastic job and the team has a fantastic spirit."

The West Brom boss wants the home fans to get behind the team tomorrow.

He said: "Leicester turned us over last year.

"I just hope and pray we get a full house and our fans get behind the lads because it's so important.

"If you heard the Norwich supporters, especially the first 20 minutes, they were trying to suck the ball into the back of the net.

"So we really need to get the crowd behind us."

BILIC TARGETS TOP THREE FINISH

SLAVEN BILIC says there's no reason why his Hammers can't stay in their lofty league position.

The Londoners sit third in the table after a blistering start to the season.

And it's not like the fixtures have been kind, with West Ham pulling off fantastic wins at Man City, Arsenal and Liverpool before last week's home victory over Chelsea.

So they won't be too worried about venturing across the capital to take on Premier League newcomers Watford.

Bilic said: "It's only still the start but we are confident.

"There's going to be ups and downs results wise, but I don't see why our league position should drop.

Watford v West Ham United

Saturday, 3pm kick-off

"Our goal is to try and win as many games as we can and to play as attractive football as we can.

"It's still early days though.

"Our position in the table motivates the players by itself because they are enjoying it and they want to enjoy it longer"

Despite West Ham bagging some impressive scalps, Bilic knows that beating teams like Watford is the key to a successful season.

And he's not taking the Hornets lightly.

They had a big result of their own last week, pulling off a 2-0 win away at Stoke City.

Improving

Bilic knows that it will take a similar effort to the one that toppled Chelsea to come out on top.

He added: "It will be a tough game on Saturday because they are a hard team to beat.

"They are also a new team who are improving week by week.

"They look a very organised team, and we have to be on top of our game if we want to continue our good run."

It has long been a moan of bosses of London teams that there is a capital city derby almost every week.

With six teams in the top flight, more than a quarter of West Ham's matches will be a local affair this season.

But that doesn't bother Bilic too much, who backs his players to adapt to whatever is thrown at them.

He said: "We look forward to playing London teams, but there are no favourites in a London derby.

"We look forward to all games."

TITLE TILT: Flamini thinks Arsenal are still on track

Flami: We're still Gunner win the title

Swansea City v Arsenal

Saturday, 3pm kick-off

ARSENAL'S midweek shock against Sheffield Wednesday won't derail their title challenge.

That's the verdict of Gunners' midfielder Mathieu Flamini, who is backing his team-mates to get back on track when they face Swansea.

Arsenal went top of the table for the first time since February 2014 after beating Everton last weekend.

And while City quickly jumped back above them, it highlights how close Arsene Wenger's side are to a title challenge.

There were several fringe players in the side that was spanked by Wednesday in the Capital One cup — but there were a lot of big names too.

And Flamini says they will be determined to put things right straight away.

The Frenchman said: "It is one of the positive things, you can say, playing every three days that we can make sure we rectify the direction because we have been on a good run."

There was more than pride hurt on Tuesday night as Theo Walcott and Alex Oxlade-Chamberlain both limped off.

Blow

Wenger says the forwards are major doubts for the trip to south Wales.

Flamini agrees that both players are a big loss to the Gunners.

He said: "They were bad injuries because we lost two players in 20 minutes and they're going to be out for I don't know how long.

"That is difficult for us on top of the victory for the other team.

"It happened again, but now we have to move forward and forget about the last game.

"It was not a good performance, but it is like that."

Wenger added: "We are short now with the injuries. It is a big blow for us.

"We have to manage as well the workload of the players. I think I did well when I look at the two players who got injured.

"Losing two players of that stature is a big blow to us when it comes to other competitions."

HAPPY: Sigurdsson

Swansea midfielder Gylfi Sigurdsson has fond of memories of taking on Arsenal, as he scored the equaliser last season before the home side went on to grab a 2-1 victory.

And the Icelander is relieved that the Swans ended a six-game winless run against Aston Villa last weekend.

He said: "We put pressure on ourselves because we set targets before the season.

"As a group we're not happy with the way we've been performing over the last couple of months.

"Sometimes you don't perform but you nick those wins.

"It was an important win, especially after going 1-0 down.

"We managed to get back in the game and probably steal it in the end.

"There was a lot of character, especially in the second half when it was a very open game."

PREMIER LEAGUE PREVIEW:

BRAZIL

Klopp's going crazy about

ROBERTO FIRMINO will be a smash hit in the Premier League, says Kop gaffer Jurgen Klopp.

By PAUL THOMAS

The Brazilian has been dogged by injury problems since his £29million move from Hoffenheim in the summer.

But he gave a hint of what's to come against Bournemouth on Wednesday night.

It was his first start for a month and his first full outing under the new gaffer.

He was played in his best position through the middle behind the striker — and it paid off big time.

Firmino was a constant threat to the Cherries' defence and showed his eye for goal with a couple of near-misses.

He looked a much bigger threat that hit-and-miss Adam Lallana and Phillipe Coutinho, who has been struggling for form.

And now Klopp faces a big decision on whether to keep Firmino in the side for the Reds' trip to Chelsea.

It's a key game for both sides, with the Kop idols wanting to build on their first win under the German, while some reports suggest Jose Mourinho will be SACKED if the Blues get beat.

And there's no doubt that Klopp is a big fan of Firmino.

He said: "Now we all know a little bit more about him. It was very intensive for him against Bournemouth.

"He's ready, he's prepared for this league for sure, he's physically strong, a good technician, it's all what you saw.

"It's important for a new player to show this."

Buzzing

And Klopp says he was already looking forward to working with Firmino, having admired his efforts for Hoffenheim in the Bundesliga.

The Kop boss added: "For him, it's good, he doesn't have to show me anything

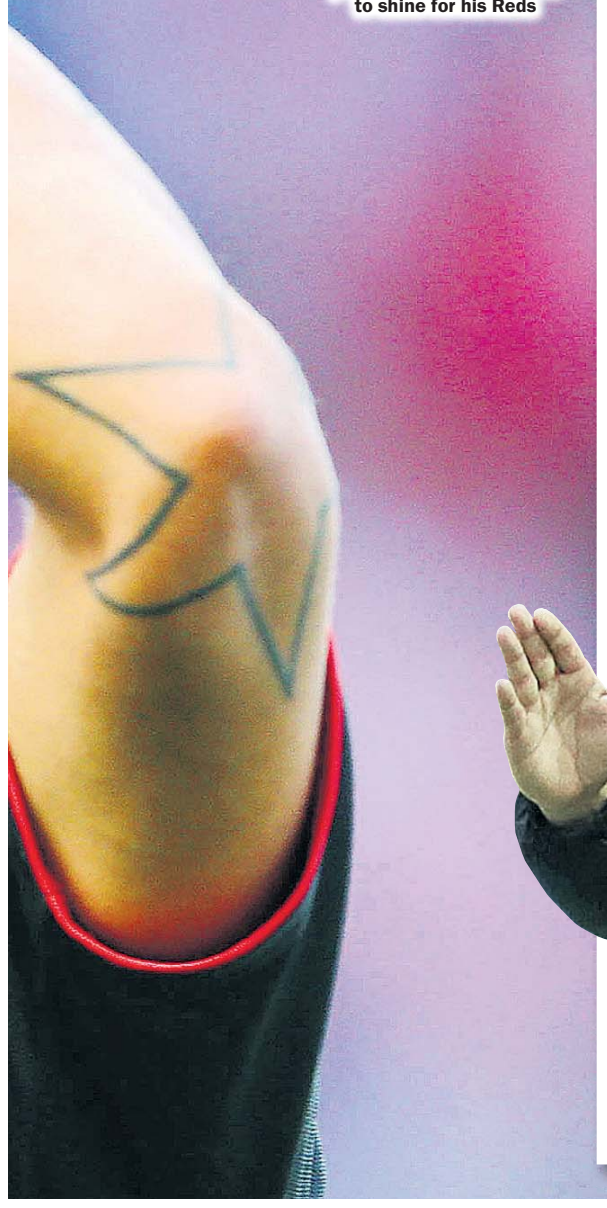
NUTTER

superstar schemer Firmino



FIRM FAVOURITE: Klopp (inset) is backing Firmino to shine for his Reds

because I know him very well."

Klopp's not the only one who was impressed by Firmino's midweek showing.

Team-mate Nathaniel Clyne also thinks his effort gives a hint of what he's capable of.

He said: "Roberto is quality. He always wants the ball, he's always buzzing all over the pitch.

"His qualities are on the ball and he helps us with a lot of the chances."

The former Southampton man thinks that Klopp's ideas are starting to get through to his players.

He's been in the job for just three weeks, but has already played four matches, with three draws and now a victory.

Clyne added: "The manager has been working all-round on our team shape. How he wants us to press and go forward as a team.

"There's been a lot of work on the training field and it showed today."

The manager agrees that the Liverpool players are already beginning to change the way they had been playing under Brendan Rodgers.

That now needs to be converted into points as they look to get into the Champions League places.

Problems

Klopp added: "I'm feeling much better than after the draws.

"But I don't think the other games were so much worse than the Bournemouth match, but the result is the big difference."

While Daniel Sturridge is almost certain to miss the trip to Stamford Bridge, there is better news about Christian Benteke.

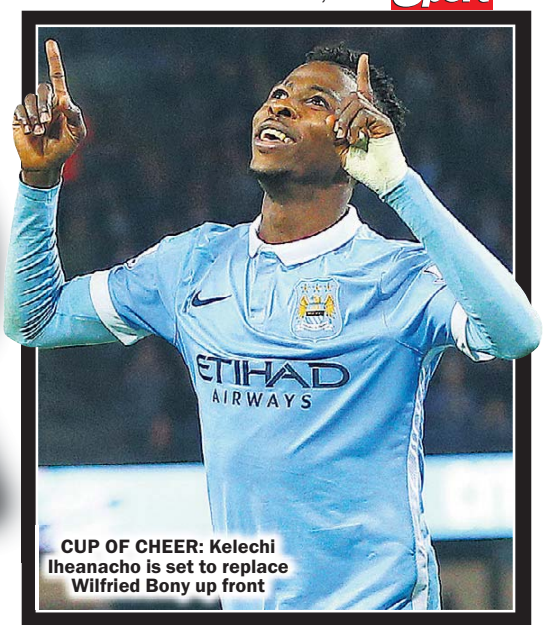
The Big Belgian wasn't even in the squad for the Bournemouth game.

But he is expected to play his part against Chelsea.

Klopp said: "Christian I think will be fit on Saturday.

"There are little problems with our striker situation, we can take no risks.

"Divock Origi has done really well and worked really hard."



CUP OF CHEER: Kelechi Iheanacho is set to replace Wilfried Bony up front

Nacho-man Wil be hero for Manuel

Manchester City v Norwich City

Saturday, 3pm kick-off

MAN CITY fans have a new scoring hero — and he didn't cost the billionaires a penny.

Kelechi Iheanacho might be just 19, but he's already a firm favourite at the Etihad. Now he's looking to push the unconvincing Wilfried Bony out of the team when Norwich come to town.

The Nigerian showed his potential City's third goal against Crystal Palace in the Capital One cup – and he also got the winner against the Eagles when they clashed in the Premier League.

He's scored twice in 130 minutes on the pitch for City and his potential is there for all to see.

Manuel Pellegrini isn't the type of boss to get carried away – quite the opposite in fact – but even he is excited as his striking prospect.

He was full of praise after his goal against Palace, saying: "Kelechi for me is not just a finisher.

"He played very well. He must improve his control.

"But he always played with his head up so he made two important assists.

Improve

"He set up Kevin de Bruyne and after that, with more space, made a goal for Manu Garcia.

"He can play behind the striker and arrive in the box to finish, as he did for his goal.

"It was very important for him to make a very good performance — he is a very good player.

"He is not just a striker, because he assisted two goals, and I am very happy for him.

"He must continue working. He has a lot of things to improve, but I am very happy for him."

And Pellegrini is more than happy to give Kelechi a chance in the top flight.

The gaffer added: "I don't have any doubts.

"I see how he works every day. His personality is also one of the important things.

"He can play a lot of games in the Premier League.

"I am sure he will improve a lot — he is very young."

MISFIRING: Bony

Norwich are back in the north-west after losing a Capital One cup penalty shoot-out at Everton in midweek.

Boss Alex Neil was happy with his players' performance at Goodison and hopes the spot kick drama won't knock their confidence.

He said: "The only disappointing thing when you go into penalty situations is you don't want any of your players to experience that disappointment of missing from the spot kick because they feel they have let people down.

"I have told them that these things happen.

"The way they performed over the game was the most important thing for me.

"I thought we played really well and am happy with them."

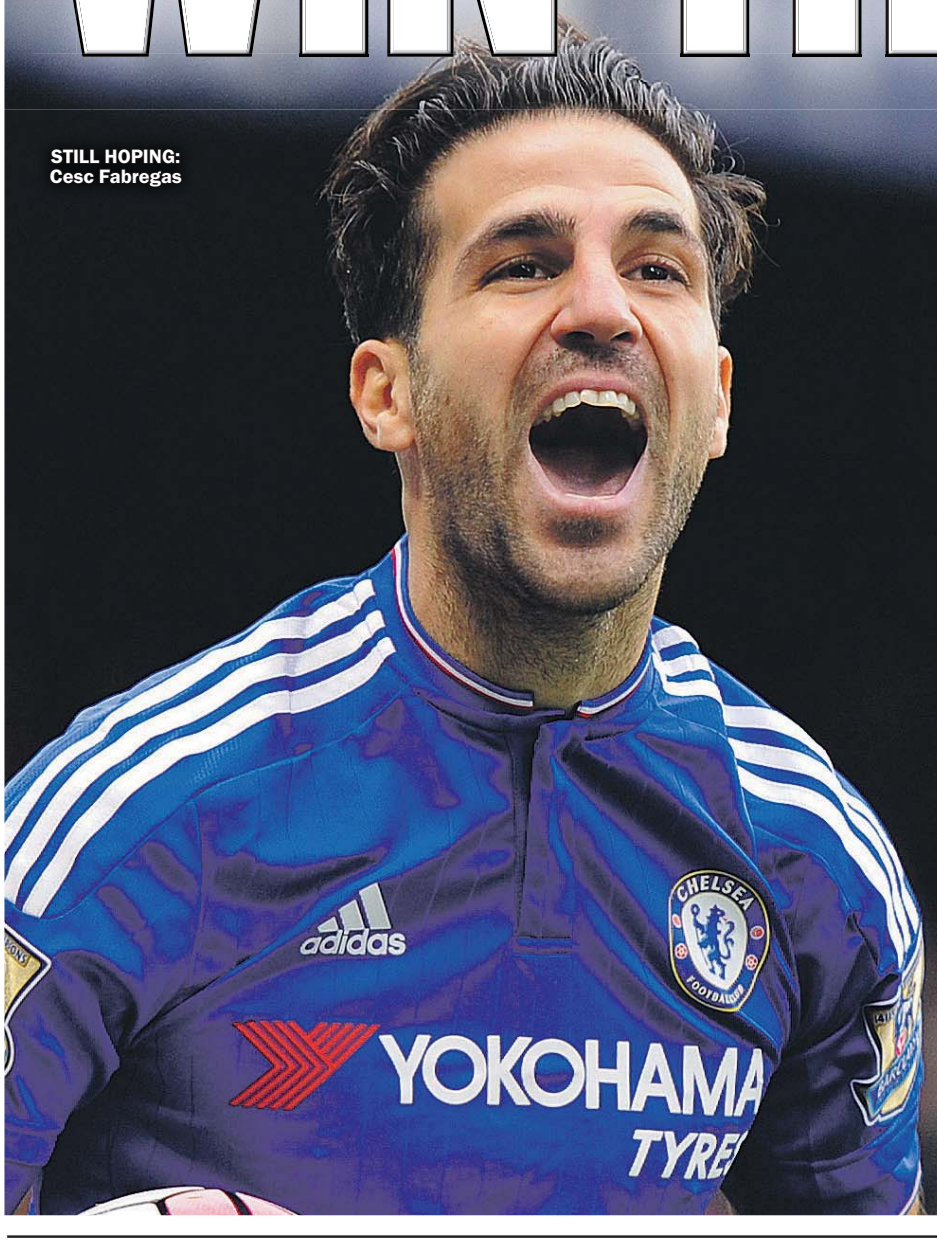
HAS CHELSEA STAR LOST HIS MARBLES?

WE CAN STILL WIN THE TITLE



STILL HOPING: Cesc Fabregas

Fab makes crazy claim for Blues

By ANDY MILLOM

CHELSEA might be just above the relegation zone — but Cesc Fabregas still fancies their chances of winning the league.

The Blues midfielder must have been asleep for the past three months as the champions have lurched from one crisis to another.

They are already 11 points behind leaders Man City and face a tricky home game against Liverpool tomorrow.

They were beaten by West Ham last week and crashed out of the Capital One Cup against Stoke on Tuesday.

Charge

That made it just one win in their past seven games and many insiders think Jose Mourinho will be sacked if Jurgen Klopp's boys win at the Bridge.

But Fabregas is still full of confidence.

He reckons Chelsea just need a couple of wins to kick-start their charge to the championship.

He said: "I am sure we can still win the title.

"We just have to get our confidence back, win a few games on the trot and from there we'll see what happens.

"In the Premier League anyone can lose points to anyone."
